WARDEN ASKS TROOPS TO STAND BY PRISON

MONTREAL (CP)—A detachment of Canadian Army troops has been called in on a "standby basis" at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, it was announced today.

Warden Lecorre said the troops were called in as a precautionary measure and would stand by in case of trouble.

Troops Stand By in Alabama; Race Riots Follow Bombings

Kennedy Plans Weekend Visit

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP)—Advance contingent of army riot control troops began arriving today in this racially-troubled city as President Kennedy went ahead with plans to visit Alabama this weekend.

The racial situation here, in the words of Attorney-General Robert Kennedy, was "extremely sensitive and tense," but he said he expects the agreement reached last week between white and Negro leaders to endure.

He said that despite the weekend of bombings and rioting, the truce would not be broken and the racial troubles in this deep south city would be settled.

A top army staff officer, Maj. Gen. Cleighton Abrams, was here to direct the military preparations necessary to throw federal troops into action if needed.

Bombings and rioting resulted in injuries to about 50 persons Saturday night and during the pre-dawn hours of Sunday. Trouble-shooters from the department of justice, meanwhile, set up headquarters in the downtown federal building, only a few blocks from the scene of the weekend disorders.

The White House announced during the day that President Kennedy will go through with long-held plans to visit Alabama this Saturday to attend ceremonies honoring the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

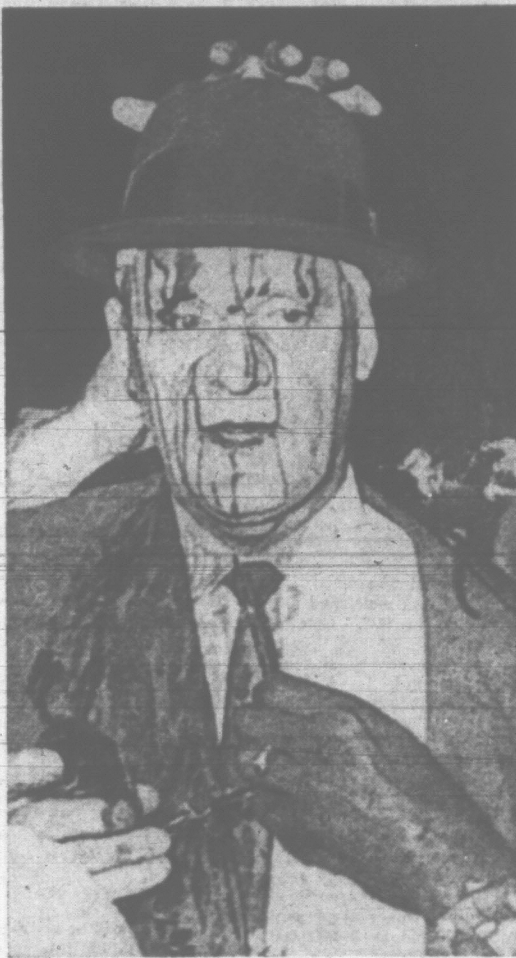

Life in Birmingham, however, had returned to near normal by mid-morning.

A 28-block area, sealed off after Negroes rioted Saturday night, was reopened this morning and traffic was functioning at its normal pace.

The Southern Christian Leadership Council said Jackie Robinson, first Negro to compete in major league baseball, and former heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson will fly here tonight.

The Birmingham police department said everything was quiet in the steel city this morning. No untoward incidents were reported overnight although more than a thousand city and special police officers held part of the city under virtual martial law.

President Kennedy sent army troops to two Alabama bases with a grim warning that they would move into Birmingham if new violence erupts. Thousands of Negroes rioted early Sunday after bombs blasted a Negro minister's home and a motel.

QUEBEC SOCREDS IN TURMOIL

Plot, Counterplot Alleged by Caouette

Weather Threatens Flight

By GEOFFREY COULD

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Predicted heavy clouds in the launch area posed a threat today to astronaut Gordon Cooper's space flight. But Project Mercury officials said preparations were continuing for a launching Tuesday morning.

If conditions are favorable, an Atlas rocket is scheduled to blast off between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. EDT (6 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. PDT) to start Cooper on a 22-orbit flight, lasting more than 34 hours. This would be the longest manned space flight yet attempted by the United States.

As the scheduled liftoff time neared, Cooper ran through a brief simulated countdown and launching in a trainer at Mercury control centre. He again reviewed the flight plan and star charts and scheduled a final mission review with all key officials late in the day.

"I'm ready," he said. "All we have to do now is load, launch and launch."

QUEBEC (CP)—Real Caouette said Sunday night six Social Credit members threw their support to a minority Liberal government last month to check another move within the party to maintain a Diefenbaker government.

Mr. Caouette, deputy Social Credit leader, said cabinet posts in a Conservative government had been promised to two of the three Social Credit members involved in negotiating the attempted alliance. He did not say whether the three Social Credit members were negotiating on their own behalf or on behalf of the party.

He also said Stanley Knowles had been assured he would be Speaker of the Commons in return for Social Credit—New Democratic Party support. Mr. Knowles is NDP member of Parliament for Winnipeg North Centre.

Mr. Caouette said the six Social Credit members made their surprise move only 20 minutes before NDP Leader T. C. Douglas was to confirm by telephone an alliance between the two minority parties to support the Conservatives. He didn't say whether Mr. Douglas made the call.

LEAVES THE PARTY

He said Dr. Guy Marcoux, Social Credit party whip and member for Quebec—Montmorency, was one of the negotiators of the attempted alliance. Dr. Marcoux announced Saturday he has quit the Social Credit party and will sit in Parliament as an "Independent Social Credit."

'Hallucinations' Replies NDP Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, said today Real Caouette "is suffering from hallucinations" when he says that the NDP and the Social Credit party were considering an alliance.

"Mr. Caouette's statement that I or anyone on my behalf had any discussions with the Social Credit party or any other political party either before, during or after the election is completely untrue and without any foundation in fact," said Mr. Douglas in a prepared statement.

Said Mr. Douglas: "It is apparent that Mr. Caouette finds himself in some difficulty over the haywire negotiations that were conducted by some of the Social Credit members with respect to supporting a Liberal government. Consequently, he now is seeking to find a scapegoat."

"I can only conclude that Mr. Caouette is suffering from hallucinations and I suggest that he come up with some more plausible explanation—preferably the truth."

Prime Minister Pearson told reporters prior to a cabinet meeting that he had "no comment whatever" on the matter.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's office also had a terse "no comment" when asked about the alleged alliance.

'WANTS MEN TO LICK HIS HANDS'

QUEBEC (CP)—Fernand Ouellet, expelled from Le Ralliement des Creditistes for what was described as "clandestine activity," said Sunday night he is glad to be out of politics. Mr. Ouellet brushed off criticism by Deputy Social Credit Leader Real Caouette.

"Caouette only wants servants around who will lick his hands," Mr. Ouellet said in an interview. "All I said out loud was what most people thought underneath."

Mr. Ouellet said Mr. Caouette's next step will be "to go after the head of Mr. Thompson (national leader Robert Thompson)." He did not elaborate.

Governor Challenges President

Governor George C. Wallace, arch-segregationist who once defied federal authorities over voter registration records, challenged the president's right to send in federal troops. He insisted state and local officers can preserve law and order.

City officials and Negro leaders issued strong appeals for law and order.

Helmets state troopers, city policemen and officers from numerous surrounding counties and towns patrolled the cordoned area in shifts today. About 50 persons, including police officers, were injured in the rioting.

The president's action was three-pronged:

1. Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara was ordered to alert riot-trained army units and to deploy them in Alabama. Troops moved into Maxwell Air Force Base at Montgomery, 80 miles to the south, and at Ft. McClellan at Anniston, 60 miles to the east.

2. Preliminary steps were taken for bringing under federal control the Alabama National Guard. The papers have not been signed.

3. Assistant Attorney-General Burke Marshall was sent back to Birmingham to consult with citizens and work with other justice department officials.

In other developments: Shortly before Kennedy spoke, rifle bullets ripped into the home of two Negroes and a Negro church at Anniston, Ala.—where some of the troops were sent.

head of the desegregation drive, urged discipline, restraint and non-violence of Birmingham Negroes and insisted a shaky biracial agreement to settle the segregation dispute remained in effect.

Mayor Albert Boutwell took a look at the damage and pledged, "retribution there will be swift, stern and in full measure . . ."

Every resource, he said, was bent to apprehend those who planted the bombs.

At a mass church meeting of about 2,000 Negroes, Dr. King said he considered Kennedy's statement a strong one which "shows the administration is concerned about this problem and is willing to take forthright action to preserve the citizenship rights of Birmingham Negroes."

He added: "I have not requested federal troops."

Of the biracial agreement announced only Friday, Dr. King said: "I have faith in the persons who did the negotiating. I believe these agreements will be carried out."

Gaglardi Named In Suit

(Special To The Times) HELENA, Mont. — Highway Minister P. A. Gaglardi is one of five defendants named in a $138,000 suit launched today in Helena, Mont.

A complaint filed in the district court at Helena asks for the awarding of $100,000 exemplary and punitive damages and a judgment for $38,892. Named with Gaglardi are Clyde W. Thornton of Montana, Fred Bell, Bonanza Construction Ltd. of B.C., and Mannix Co. of Alberta.

The complainant alleges they wrongfully withheld a $38,892 security deposit paid to the B.C. government by Montana contractor Dick Holzworth in 1959 against the awarding of the contract for highways project 1023 to Bonanza Construction.

It says it was agreed between Holzworth, Thornton, Bell and Gaglardi that Holzworth would be repaid when a performance bond was obtained for the contract.

The complaint alleges the deposit security was later assigned without Holzworth's knowledge and was wrongfully paid to the Mannix Co. (Project 1023 recently came under the scrutiny of a B.C. government legislative committee).

At Vancouver today Gaglardi said "I don't know anything about it."

WAIT OTTAWA MOVE

B.C. Cautious On Columbia

Cautious optimism about action on the long-stalled Columbia River power development was aired today by B.C. government spokesmen.

Officials are waiting for a promised approach from the federal government following the meeting of Prime Minister Lester Pearson and President Kennedy last week.

Mr. Pearson said in Ottawa afterwards that he told the president he wanted some "adjustments and clarifications" in the Columbia treaty, signed in 1961, but not yet ratified by the Canadian parliament.

UNKNOWN CHANGES

Mr. Pearson did not disclose the nature of the adjustments. "I have no idea what he was talking about," commented B.C. Water Resources Minister Ray Williston.

However, he said, one of the things that will "have to be" included in renewed negotiations is an agreement to sell Canada's share of downstream benefits to the U.S.

There is no change in B.C. policy on this, Mr. Williston said.

NUCLEAR ARMS DECISION FOR EXECUTIVE

At the same time, however, he reaffirmed his government's plan to give the 26th Parliament, which opens Thursday, an opportunity to debate defence policy before any final agreement is signed with the United States to acquire nuclear warheads.

Lumber Quotas Asked

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—The Oregon Senate voted unanimously today to ask Congress to come to the rescue of Oregon's lumber industry by imposing import quotas on Canadian lumber and allowing foreign ships to haul Oregon lumber to East Coast ports.

Sky-High Operation Fails to Save Pilot

NEW YORK (AP)—In a speeding jet airliner high over the Atlantic Saturday, a leading Stockholm surgeon and a stewardess fought a desperate, losing battle to save a stricken co-pilot's life.

Then, assisted by other crew members, they gave the co-pilot oxygen and externally massaged his heart as the swift jet raced the clock.

Most of the 87 passengers were not fully aware of the drama in flight, the stewardess said.

Geraldo Segala, 29, the stricken second officer of Varig Airlines Flight 854 from Buenos Aires to New York, still was breathing, but unconscious when taken from the plane at Idlewild Airport. He died before reaching hospital.

Determination of the cause of death awaited an autopsy. Yvonne Stapfer, 32, the chief stewardess, assisted Dr. Clarence Crafoord in the operation. Crafoord is a professor of chest surgery at Karolinska Hospital in Stockholm.

BRITISH BAN-BOMBERS SHOW NEW TRICKS

Love Potion for Police Dogs 'Not Cricket'

LONDON (AP)—Police today accused ban-the-bomb demonstrators of using a love potion to outwit police dogs.

"It's not playing the game," said a police spokesman. "It's more or less tantamount to putting marbles under horses' feet. It just shows how low some people will go."

Peter Cadogan, secretary of the Committee of 100, replied: "The use of dogs against us is a filthy trick and a damned insult. I admit we used aniseed buns. All that happens is that the dogs lick the aniseed and get very affectionate."

The committee is a militant organization that frequently demonstrates against nuclear weapons. It wants Britain to destroy all nuclear devices.

"It's a very sensible tactic against dogs," Cadogan continued. "Aniseed is a love potion. The use of it saves trouble to the dogs and the demonstrator."

Police said the demonstrators used buns soaked in aniseed during a demonstration over the weekend near the RAF's V-bomber station in County Norfolk.

In a clash with the police and dogs, 80 demonstrators were arrested—but no one reported being bitten by a dog. "We had 30 to 35 dogs on duty," said the police spokesman.

Police and RAF security officers also clashed with a crowd of "ban-the-bombers" Saturday who tried to claim an air base at Harham after buying it lock, stock and missiles at a mock auction.

Before the demonstrators gave up and went to a local tavern, about a dozen were arrested.

The clash came after the group led by the Committee of 100 held their auction in the nearby quiet market town of Swaffham.

The RAF bomber base was sold piece by piece—with planes worth hundreds of thousands of pounds going for £1 ($3) each. Buyers were given bills of sale to stick on their purchases at the base to claim them "for peaceful purposes."

The demonstrators then went to the base where entry is rigidly restricted under Britain's Official Secrets Act and were greeted by lines of police.

The demonstrators came in waves trying to break the cord. At one point they threw one of their number over the base fence. He was thrown back. For a while he was passed back and forth like a tennis ball.

In court, the ban-the-bombers booted throughout the hearing at which four persons were released on bail, and seven others remanded.

Meanwhile, the Manchester Guardian says fanatical nuclear disarmers are harassing the British secret service by jamming its telephones, entering its offices and photographing its staff.

It says "ban-the-bomb" enthusiasts are pinpointing service offices in their "spies for peace" campaign to publicize demands for nuclear disarmament.

The paper suggests foreign agents might be involved. In one case, unknown callers tied up 40 lines into two military intelligence units for eight hours, blocking incoming calls and interfering with outgoing communications, the paper says.

At an intelligence headquarters hidden in a rural area, disarmers forced their way into a building during office hours and photographed staff members before being thrown out. The Guardian adds.

The newspaper says there is no doubt "these young people are directed by clever, well-informed leaders who could easily be high-level enemy agents."

Battle of Kamloops

MR. DAVIE FULTON'S decision to seek election to the provincial legislature as the member for Kamloops is understandable. Though federal and provincial riding boundaries differ slightly, this is the centre which has sent him to Ottawa consistently since 1945. Until his resignation from the Diefenbaker cabinet this year he served it well.

It is somewhat surprising, however, that having accepted the leadership of the British Columbia Progressive Conservatives, he has not sought election to the legislature on the first opportunity. This he might have done by standing in nearby Columbia, where a vacancy now exists and where a byelection will be held shortly.

As provincial Conservative leader his presence in the House is to be desired, if, of course, any riding is prepared to elect him. If his party is to have any influence at all in legislative affairs, it requires a spokesman in the forum where it has no current representation.

By running against Mr. Gagliardi, Mr. Fulton has chosen for himself a formidable opponent and in doing so displays courage. The battle for Kamloops shapes up as one of the most interesting contests of the next general election—a contest between rival "favorite sons."

The former federal minister's decision to confront one of the strongest, if most controversial, members of Mr. Bennett's cabinet may encourage other British Columbia Conservatives to face other daunting Social Credit opponents. There is no indication at present, however, that Mr. Fulton's assumption of provincial Tory leadership has attracted any significant strength to the party's ranks.

His appeal, it seems, must be to voters who favor an administration somewhat right of centre — the voters who swung heavily to Social Credit when the new movement swept the old-line parties out of office.

Mr. Fulton may believe that he requires more time than he has yet been allowed to develop that appeal. Certainly the results in the Point Grey byelection of recent date were anything but encouraging to him. His personally-endorsed candidate, Mr. Reg Atherton, finished a very poor second to Liberal Patrick McGeer, who polled 21,669 votes to the Conservative's 8,784, a total only 600 better than that of the Social Credit standard bearer who finished third.

The personal political fortunes of Mr. Fulton in Kamloops will, of course, be only one factor in the next general election. Of particular interest to observers will be the degree to which the Conservatives under his leadership are able to win back the defectors who climbed aboard the Social Credit band wagon and with them those uncommitted voters favoring a right-of-centre philosophy in provincial politics.

Mr. Robert Strachan, leader of the New Democratic Party does not expect the Fulton campaign to carry the Conservatives into power. He believes that, at best, a revived Tory party will serve simply to split the anti-Socialist vote and permit the N.D.P. to ride into office on a minority.

Mr. Strachan may be too optimistic, but he undoubtedly has grounds for hope—the hope of assuming power, though representing much less than half the voters of the province, because those opposed to his fundamental policies may divide their forces three ways, between Liberals, Social Crediters and Conservatives.

On that basis, Mr. Strachan will wish Mr. Fulton some success, but not enough.

Setting the Stage

OBSERVERS SEE A GAIN FOR Mr. Nikita Khrushchev in his quarrel with Peking, in that the Red Chinese have agreed to come to Moscow for their mutual conference. The original invitation, from the Chinese, would have taken the Russians to Peking with the tacit admission that the Chinese had achieved an equality of importance in the Communist axis.

The projected talks are expected to be illuminating. While both sides have publicly minimized the possibility of a serious schism between the allies, they have continued publicly to attack each other and with epithets not likely to be forgotten soon.

The Red Chinese insist on a more aggressive and even violent campaign of furthering Communism in the new, evolving countries. Mr. Khrushchev, although apparently with some opposition from within his own camp, has preached the new approach—domination of the West through industrial and productive supremacy.

In view of Russia's proficiency in nuclear and space development, and of Red China's inevitable achievement of a nuclear bomb—perhaps within a relatively few months—the Moscow talks could have very direct effects on the rest of the world. Threats to Mr. Khrushchev's party position could well weaken his opposition and give the Chinese policy priority, resulting in a much tougher international situation and a deepening of the cold war abyss. And there is, too, the possibility suggested by the 69-year-old Soviet leader that he cannot remain at the helm indefinitely. The likelihood is that his successor will adopt a harder policy, requiring a similar response from the West.

The Moscow meeting will be watched with more than interest by Western experts, trying to detect the future diplomatic trend and perhaps even the possibilities of war or peace.

War Against the 'Fright Groups'

THE APPLAUSE WAS BI-PARTISAN when United States Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of California completed a speech in that country's upper chamber the other day. It doubtless has been echoed by people of different shades of opinion not only in the United States but elsewhere in the Western World.

Senator Kuchel dealt with the "fright groups" and "hate pedlars" who align themselves with the far-out right of the Republican Party. He gave particular attention to spokesmen for the John Birch Society, listing some of their ludicrous charges against respected American figures and revealing the falsity of some of their claims.

The senator said that 10 per cent of the 60,000 letters, cards and telegrams which he, sometimes receives in a month fall into the category of "fright mail."

It is significant that Senator Kuchel received such widespread backing in the last election from California, where some exotic "hate groups" flower. And it speaks well for Californians as well as the people of the United States in general that they give such a man their endorsement when he calls on "Republicans, simply and reasonably, to stand up and fight these unreasonable and irrational people..."

Senator Kuchel does much to remind friends of the United States beyond that country's border that the bulk of his people are far removed from the "fright groups" despite the amount of publicity the latter received through various media.

Lifting the Cloak on Abortion

A UNITED CHURCH MINISTER has challenged the position adopted by his church in 1960, that "Christian conscience cannot approve abortion." His challenge has been raised in spite of the qualification by the church that if doctors feel that the pregnancy endangers the mother's physical or mental health "therapeutic abortion may be necessary."

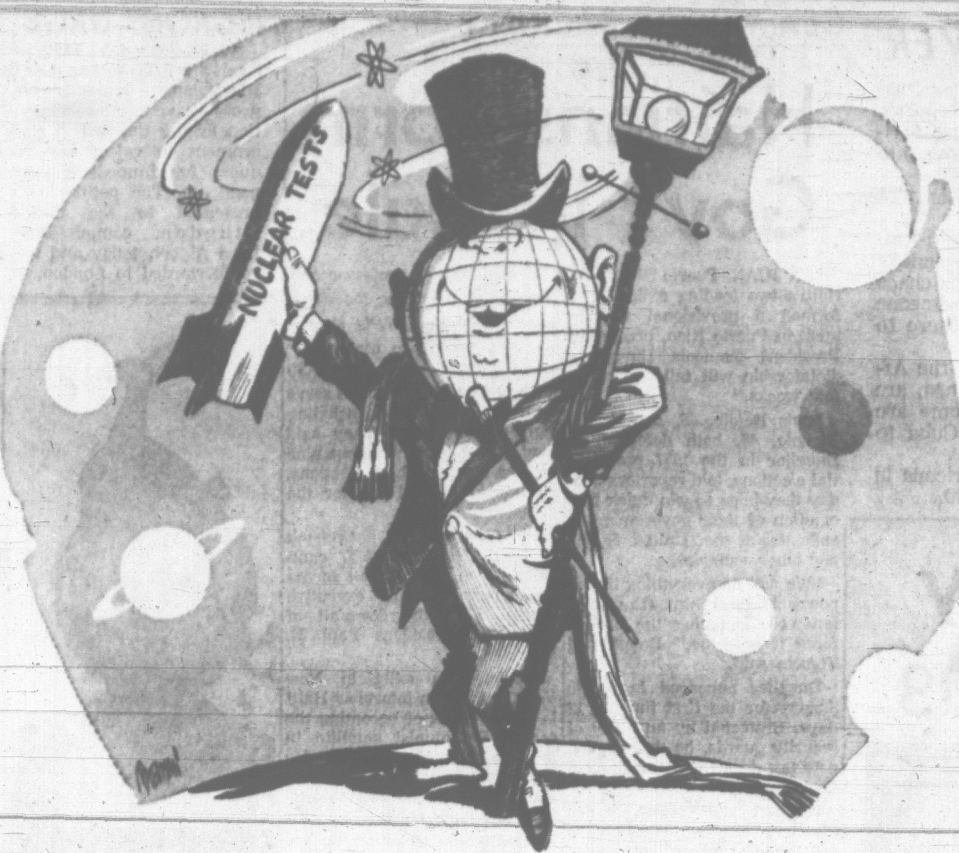

The Rev. Ray Goodall of New Westminster believes the decision should be left to the pregnant woman, presumably after consultation with her physician and her minister or priest. He feels that the exercise of the option by the woman "could eliminate much of the suffering associated with an unwanted pregnancy."

This is a forthright opinion voiced by a person obviously sincere in his beliefs, though they run contrary to the orthodox both in his own church and in others.

Such statements deserve consideration, whatever the views of the general public for the very good reason that they bring further into the open a subject which should be debated frankly. There are strong arguments for and against abortion and those arguments deserve a hearing, particularly where matters of health and welfare are concerned.

The New Westminster clergyman has served a good purpose in helping to relieve discussion of that prejudice which stultifies honest and decent inquiry into the subject and which too frequently sends women to unqualified quacks for illegal operations.

FROM WASHINGTON

Is This the Year of Chiang Kai-Shek?

By JOSEPH ALSOP

THE "return to the mainland," so long and so often proclaimed, may really be attempted this year by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

There is considerable danger that this explosive possibility will be pooh-poohed, until the attempt is actually underway. The Generalissimo and his government have been talking about reinvading the mainland ever since 1949. By now, the talk tends to go unheeded, like the cries of "Wolf! Wolf!" of the little boy in the story.

But in the first place, some fast-talking American persuasion was needed to avert at least one earlier attempt. And in the second place, the indications from Formosa this spring differ quite sharply from any in the past.

There are no boastful, empty proclamations now. Instead there are serious preparations. For example, besides building landing craft in the Taipei shipyards—which the U.S. government knew about—the Nationalists have also been having landing craft quietly built in Japan—which the U.S. government did not learn about until recently.

Then, too, the Nationalist armed forces have been training hard for amphibious operations, ironically enough with American advice; for help in this special training was part of the bargain, when the Generalissimo agreed to give up his earlier plan for re-invading the mainland.

Finally, the tone and tempo of the Nationalist leadership are the most serious indicators of all. The Generalissimo's advisers who were formerly on the side of caution, and above all against getting too far out of step with the U.S., are now strongly in favor of making the re-invasion attempt this year.

Thus those who tipped the scales on the side of prudence, like the able Vice-President, Chen Chang, and the veteran war minister, Yu Ta-wei, are now casting their weight on the other side of the balance. As for the Generalissimo himself, he is past 70; he is determined to make his attempt to return to the mainland while he still has time; and he considers the time is ripe in 1963.

There is, in fact, no doubt at all that Chiang Kai-shek and his government at present intend to make the landing attempt early this summer—or perhaps in the next favorable season, in the autumn. Initially, they cannot put on shore much more than a division. Their air force, which comprises only about 300 planes, is outnumbered more than 10-to-1 by the Communists.

But they remember that their pilots scored better than 30-to-1 against the Communist pilots in the Quemoy crisis of 1958. They count, quite possibly with reason, on scoring as well now. And they also believe that there is enough disaffection in the Communist army, and more than enough disaffection in the Chinese countryside, to insure a landing on a relatively small scale acting like a lit match in a dry haystack.

The question therefore is not whether Chiang Kai-shek seriously intends to attempt his landing in 1963. The truth is that 1963 is already being rather openly described in high government circles in Taipei as "The Year of the Return."

Instead, the question is whether or not Chiang Kai-shek will act on his intention in the end. The answer to this question is virtually certain to be in the affirmative; moreover, unless President Kennedy can persuade the Generalissimo to change his mind.

Persuasion will be tried, at any rate. Even the American officials who believe a return to the mainland may some day succeed are strongly convinced that any attempt now would be suicidally ill-timed.

For one thing, there is a clear possibility, if not a downright likelihood, of an open break between Communist China and the Soviet Union before another 12 months have passed. A Nationalist landing on the mainland will always be very risky; but the risk will be immensely diminished by a Sino-Soviet break, after which Moscow will cease to be a factor in the equation.

For another thing, a slightly better harvest last year and the simultaneous, almost complete abandonment of capital investment in industry have combined to allow the Chinese Communist leaders to give their people a little more than they have received until lately.

The improvement is unlikely to be enduring. Despair will recur. But there does not seem to be enough despair today to make the Nationalist plan work.

For these practical and local reasons, as well as for many other reasons rooted in the world situation, the Generalissimo's plan constitutes a serious new problem for the President.

SOME REASSURING SUPPORT

The U.S. Plan for a Nuclear Partnership

By MAX FREEDMAN

WHEN the NATO council meets in Ottawa May 22, it will learn with surprise that the project for a nuclear force, linked with the alliance, is making unexpected progress. The repeated conferences in Europe held by Mr. Livingston Merchant, the special representative of President Kennedy, have clearly defined the essential problems. They have also reduced the formidable skepticism once current in Washington.

It never was correct to regard this American project as a mere propaganda exercise. Nor is the proposal a technical trick for diverting Western Europe's attention from its real needs while keeping the substance of power in American hands. The plan is still a long way from fulfillment but it now stands as a major policy initiative that is receiving urgent attention.

In part this progress is a tribute to the flexible American plan. Mr. Merchant has never suggested that the United States by itself can solve all the nuclear problems of Europe. He has asked the European governments to bring forward a better plan. Thus far they have been unable to do so; but they have suggested some changes in the American proposal.

Mr. Merchant's willingness to consider these suggestions on their merits explains the generous tone of the negotiations. Even if the talks ultimately fail, they will have helped the United States by improving Europe's understanding of the purposes and hopes of American nuclear policy.

Among the gains thus far must be placed the co-operation between the navy and the state department in developing an allied nuclear force of polaris missiles on surface ships with mixed crews. At first the navy was doubtful that the imaginative plan of the state department could be turned into an effective weapon of mutual defence. Then the navy began to regard the plan as a challenge to its ingenuity.

Now it is convinced that all the technical problems can be solved. Senior naval officials have become ardent colleagues of the state department in persuading Western Europe that the American plan is neither cumbersome nor unworkable.

Another gain has been the recognition in Europe that the United States is not trying to prejudice the ultimate form of European union.

The United States has always explained that it is agreeable to having the members of the Common Market speak with one voice and cast one vote, if their economic unity leads one day to this kind of political unity. Until then every member of NATO is free to make up its own mind without fear of a French veto. The contrast between this flexible American policy and the rigid French position has been carefully observed in Europe.

But the biggest gain of all has been in clarifying the political problems that must be solved if we are to move beyond the Polarix vessels to a general system of shared nuclear strength. The experience of Mr. Harold Wilson, the British Labor Party leader, is instructive.

During his recent visit Mr. Wilson received detailed and confidential briefings on American nuclear policy. After these briefings he confessed that he understood for the first time what America had in mind, and the dangers in Europe that had to be avoided. He saw that the real danger was not the independent French nuclear force but the desire of West Germany to have parity with France in nuclear weapons.

Mr. Wilson agreed with American officials that Germany in coming years would have the new weapons. The practical choice, in terms of policy, is whether Germany's nuclear power will operate within the restraints and limits of the NATO Alliance or whether it will be the unrestrained servant of German national ambitions.

The leaders now rising to power in Germany welcome the American initiative because it will produce a system of co-operation which will enable West Germany to become a nuclear power without adding perilous strains to European security. Russia would never view an independent German nuclear force with the detachment which it has shown toward the French force.

The present American plan for a nuclear partnership, to be broadened with experience, is the best hope of avoiding a nuclear crisis over Germany. That is, in fact, the crowning merit of the American proposal.

Mr. Wilson has now reserved the right to reconsider Britain's nuclear role in the light of changing conditions in the NATO Alliance. Other European leaders are being educated in the new nuclear realities. Meanwhile the state department and Mr. Merchant should be allowed to negotiate with Western Europe without having to grapple with the manufactured grievances produced by political feuds in Washington.

A View From China

(A letter in the Manchester Guardian Weekly)

"CHINA'S economy is in a state of chaos. The Great Leap Forward and the communes have failed. The intellectual climate is one of stagnation. The people are cowed, furtive, and underfed. Their leaders are doctrinaire place-seekers divorced from reality."

This is the general implication of Mr. Lindqvist's article in the Guardian. After spending 18 of the past 25 years in China I believe that this is untrue.

To understand China today one must compare it with China yesterday. This Mr. Lindqvist fails to do. In the first half of this century millions of Chinese died of hunger, through flood, drought, famine, and epidemic. Many millions more normally ate chaff and wild herbs "between the yellow and the green"—when the autumn crop was eaten and the spring crop not yet reaped. In bad times, they ate grass, leaves, and bark. Tenants and laborers—about two-thirds of the people—had no hope of redress against greedy landlords or corrupt officials. Over 80 per cent of the people were illiterate. Most women lived in degrading subjection. Disease was rampant. This has all been swept away.

"I have never experienced a more total loneliness," writes Mr. Lindqvist. The elegant Embassy compound in which he lived during much of his stay in China did indeed cut him off from the Chinese people and prevent him from feeling with them the strong sense of release from the past.

During the recent spring festival I dined with a former beggar in his home in a commune in Hunan—1,000 miles south of Peking. There was meat, fish, vegetables, and grain in plenty on the table. My host was 40. In the old days his two older brothers both worked for landlords. Both died in their twenties from hunger and overwork. His mother lived all her life in a mud-walled, thatched-roof hovel. On her death-bed she said to her surviving son: "I've never lived in a house with a roof that didn't leak. You must build one so that my grandchildren will live better." It was that new house that we dined in—waterproof, spacious, solid. I have visited eight communes in five provinces during the last three years, staying from a day or two to several weeks. Each one had its former beggars whose lives had been similarly transformed—as have the lives of hundreds of millions of commune members.

Of course the change to a new social and economic basic unit for some 600 million people could not be effected without some miscalculations. But these do not condemn the institution. There was at first some overemphasis on moral incentives in the system of pay and distribution; and on the setting-up of canteens in the urge to free women from primitive housework. It took time, too, to work out methods of management suited to a people emerging from illiteracy. Too much labor was diverted from agriculture to industry. On top of this, labor had to be allocated to dam, dike, and reservoir building.

Today miscalculations have been set right. Experience that was lacking is being gained. New problems, of course, arise; but they are being tackled and the ground is clear for exploitation of the communes' exceptional potentialities. There is already a rapid advance.

It is claimed that the Great Leap Forward, too, has "failed." Some early figures were certainly exaggerated—but they were publicly corrected. (This in the ancient land of "face"!). The result was still a Great Leap Forward. By the end of 1962 there was a fourfold increase in the number of tractors, a more than tenfold increase in drainage and irrigation equipment (including a twentyfold increase in electric pumping equipment) as compared with 1957. The "failure" of the Great Leap Forward is as fictitious as that of the communes.

Mr. Lindqvist's statements on rationing are well out of date. The raw meat ration is twice what he mentions; cooked and tinned meat are now available on the ration. Unrationed fish is plentiful and cheap.

What of academic quarters in which Mr. Lindqvist felt so lonely? I have taught in China for 37 years (including three years at St. John's and Nanking Universities in old China) and have seen revolutionary advances in education. My experiences differ from those of Mr. Lindqvist during his term at Peking University.

For thousands of years intellectuals formed a privileged stratum. The supplanting of their traditional sense of superiority by a spirit of service to the people has not been a painless process. A small minority have not accomplished it and hanker for the past. But the vast majority, even of old intellectuals (such as the Oxford, London, Edinburgh, Chicago, and Columbia graduates on our staff) and young folk from formerly privileged strata, now identify themselves with the new society.

Today illiteracy is coming to an end. Since 1949 a hundred million people between 15 and 40 have learned to read and write. Bookshops and libraries are crowded. A new generation of intellectuals is being trained, drawn increasingly from peasant and worker families.

There is no problem of juvenile delinquency in China, no problem of rising crime. Any man or woman can walk through any street in Peking at any time of the day or night not only in perfect safety but without annoyance of any kind. That a large proportion of the city's taxi drivers are women in their twenties is an index of public morality.

As your recent leading article states: the rapid and fundamental changes taking place in China "affect not only the Chinese but the destiny of every other nation." It is in Britain's interests, therefore, to look at China without prejudice, to see her in perspective as she is. There is still much headway to be made here. But the atmosphere is one of optimism, vigor, purpose, and dedication. To portray it as one of decline and despair, suspicion and corruption—as Mr. Lindqvist does—is to paint a picture that is false.

Comment of a man in the street, interviewed by the BBC on the eve of Britain's 1963 Budget.

Hints on Wearing Hearing Aid

Many persons, when buying a hearing aid, could use more help than they sometimes get. Otto A. Menzel, Ph.D., says, in the little journal "Hearing Progress," that people are told many things about these aids which are not quite true.

For instance: some people say that using a hearing aid will prevent the person from getting more deaf. Dr. Menzel, who is an authority on speech and hearing, says that there is no evidence to show that this supposition is true.

Alvarez

On the other hand, some officious people try to scare their hard-of-hearing friends by saying that the use of a hearing aid will destroy what hearing remains. This, of course, is not true either.

Other people say, "if you wear a hearing aid, you will become dependent on it." I have seen many a hard-of-hearing person who was scared by this untruth.

In my youth, when for a while I worked in an eye clinic fitting glasses, I was so annoyed when, perhaps, the relatives of a lad or girl who much needed glasses would say, "Don't wear glasses because soon you'll get the habit, and then you will not be able to give up your glasses." Of course, the person will not want to give up the glasses when he or she finds out how much joy and comfort and interest in life they can give.

When I was nine and was given my first pair of glasses, it was such a joy to see the world clearly, and such a joy to be able to read with comfort, that naturally I wouldn't have parted with my glasses for anything. But this did not mean that they were bad for me.

Another false statement often heard is that hearing aids are of use only to those persons who have what we call a "conductive hearing loss" (not a nerve deafness), perhaps with damage to the three tiny bones (ossicles) in the middle ear or a sticking tight of the "stapes" bone in the "window" leading into the inner ear, where the hearing mechanism is. As Dr. Menzel says, it is true that persons with a conductive defect are likely to get better results from a hearing aid than some other patients will, but still, some of those with a nerve deafness do get help.

Other questionable statements are that a hearing aid should always be worn in the poor ear, or always in the better ear. Dr. Menzel says that both of these sweeping generalizations are wrong. The decision as to which ear should be fitted, or whether both should be fitted, must be decided by an expert.

Some persons say, "wear your hearing aid only when you need it," but this is wrong. Experience has shown that people who keep turning their hearing aid on and off get poor results. Some persons also say, "Turn your hearing aid off in noisy places," but Dr. Menzel doubts the wisdom of this. Sometimes the situation can be helped by simply making an adjustment in the instrument.

Some people say that in choosing a hearing aid you should pick the one that sounds best to you. Dr. Menzel says that sometimes this works, but in other cases it is better to take the advice of an expert. A free-trial period does not always solve the problem, either.

Dr. Menzel points out that the wise person does not select eye-glasses from a dime-store counter. He has them fitted by an expert who knows exactly what he is doing, and gives the person what is good for him rather than what, at the moment, appeals to him. It is important to remember that when one buys a hearing aid, one should have expert help—not only then, but also as one is learning to use the aid.

One of the youngest users of a hearing aid is a little girl named Barbara Ann, who is 5-months-old. "She cries when it is not on her ear, and she shows rapt attention when it is on."

Parents of children needing a hearing aid should remember that the hearing of sounds will help the little brain to grow and become intelligent. The infants who can hear will later learn to speak.

NDP Raps Pearson On A-Arms Commitment

OTTAWA (CP)—The executive of the New Democratic Party said in a statement Sunday that the Liberal government should not make any further commitment on nuclear weapons for Canada until Parliament has decided the country's policy.

"This is Mr. Pearson's clear constitutional duty," the statement said. The statement said that the NDP executive "condemns the decision taken by Mr. Pearson at Hyannis Port to commit Canada to accepting by executive order."

"The prime minister has no right to make this kind of agreement only days before Parliament is due to meet."

Mr. Pearson told reporters in Ottawa Saturday after his return from talks with United States President Kennedy that negotiations will start soon on a political agreement between Canada and the United States for defensive nuclear weapons on Canadian soil.

He also said that the negotiations will not be brought to a conclusion before Parliament had a chance to "talk about defence policy in general and nuclear policy in particular."

Anyone found in possession of one of these weapons is liable to two years in prison, a $500 fine, or both.

In this tense, sombre atmosphere some 2,500,000 Kenyans, the great majority of them Negroes, will cast their votes between May 18 and May 26 to elect the government which will take them forward to full independence sometime next year.

The government ban on weapons was the result of brief but violent clashes between the supporters of the three parties contesting the elections: the Kenya African National Union led by Jomo Kenyatta; the Kenya African Democratic Union headed by Ronald Ngala; and the African People's Party, led by Paul Ngei.

Four persons were killed and scores injured in these political battles before weapons were outlawed.

Russia Shows the Door To Western 'Spy Aides'

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia today named four United States embassy staff members persona non grata (unacceptable persons) and demanded that a British diplomat and his wife leave Russia at once.

The action, announced by the official Soviet news agency Tass, was an outgrowth of the spy trial of British businessman Greville Wynne and Russian scientific official Oleg Penkovsky.

The Americans named were former second secretary William C. Jones; Hugh Montgomery, a political section attaché now on home leave; former assistant air attaché Capt. Alexis Davidson and Rodney Carlson, a former assistant agricultural attaché.

The Britons ordered to leave Russia without delay were Gervase Cowell, second secretary of the British embassy, and his wife, Pamela.

The Russian foreign ministry declared in a note that the Americans, all mentioned at the Wynne-Penkovsky trial, together with Richard Jacob, a former secretary-archivist at the U.S. embassy, had been declared persona non grata because they engaged in activities incompatible with their diplomatic status.

SAY SPIES AIDED

The note, repeating allegations made at the trial, declared the Americans rendered espionage assistance to Penkovsky and Wynne, both convicted Saturday and sentenced to the firing squad and eight years' detention, respectively.

'As the Twig Is Bent' Rule

Climbing plants do not always do their growing and climbing exactly where we want them to, but in the spring we can do much to encourage them in the way they should go.

Some of the plants we use as climbers have no natural tendency to climb, so that the new growths made in spring need to be guided into the positions we wish them to occupy.

The climbing forms of climatis are self supporting by means of their leaf stems which they twine around any object in their path.

New growths being made now, however, should be spread out more or less evenly over the desired area. In some cases, a soft piece of cloth can be neatly and loosely tucked over the stem of the new shoot attaching it to the trellis or other support.

Some new growths can be shortened if necessary, and this will result in more shoots developing lower on the plant.

The Fleece-vine (Polygnum baldschuanicum) is such a rampant self-climber that it must be controlled or it will reach out long growths towards adjacent trees until it covers everything in a dense tangle.

This vine is excellent on large treps where a group of old trees stumps need to be covered. It does the job effectively and provides cover for small birds.

Firethorn (Pyracantha) which is used on house walls for year-around interest and color, is a strong-growing woody shrub needing a strong hand to guide it. While the new growths are supple, train them back against the wall in the shape you wish. Branches growing outwards should be cut off close to the parent stem.

Even honeysuckle needs a helping and restraining hand if it is to produce its blossoms low enough for us to enjoy their fragrance. Always keep young shoots coming low down on the vines where they can be seen.

If allowed to ramble for even one year without check the flowers will soon be far above our noses and our eyes.

Woman Ends 7,100-Mile Ocean Hop

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—A petite American wife who quit the kitchen for the air 10 years ago landed in Brisbane in a light plane Sunday, becoming the first woman to fly alone across the Pacific.

Mrs. Betty Miller, 37, of Santa Monica, Calif., stepped out of a twin-engine Piper Apache tired but feeling good after a 7,100-mile, 13-day journey, marred in its last hours by the threat of a cyclone.

"There were different times when things weren't real certain," she said. "I was a little bit concerned, but I wouldn't say worried."

She said she plans to fly home in about a week but "in the back seat of an airliner."

Mrs. Miller's chief purpose in flying from Oakland, Calif., was to deliver the plane to Bob Goss, a charter aircraft operator in Cunnamulla, a town in remote western Queensland.

DELAYED BY WEATHER

She took off from Suva, in the Fiji Islands, Sunday morning on the last 1,400 miles of her flight to Brisbane after being delayed there by bad weather.

Mrs. Miller finally reached Eagle Farm Airport here at 8:20 p.m.

Her total air time from Oakland to Brisbane was logged at 54 hours, eight minutes.

Back home, Mrs. Miller is office manager and senior instructor in airplanes and helicopters at her husband's Santa Monica flight school. Her husband, Chuck, said last week she does not like to be called a housewife who flies as a hobby.

Another woman who attempted to fly the Pacific in the opposite direction didn't make it. That was Amelia Earhart, who disappeared with navigator Fred Noonan in 1937.

400 MILLION OF 'EM

Space Needles in Orbit

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP)—Radar contact confirmed Sunday the successful release in space of some 400,000,000 tiny copper needles, smaller than a human hair, in a U.S. Air Force experiment to study a new method for world-wide radio communication.

The experiment is being conducted for the air force by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

An announcement said the needles—known as dipoles, three-quarters of an inch long and about one-third the thickness of a human hair—were ejected successfully from an air force satellite in orbit. It did not say when.

ONLY 50 POUNDS USED

The fibres are expected to spread along a circular orbital path some 40,000 miles in circumference, to form a thin, narrow ring or belt around the earth. Fifty pounds of wire was used.

Lincoln laboratory said: "Each of the dipole fibres is, in fact, a tiny passive communications satellite and the orbital belt of fibres will be used to bounce radio signals back to earth over very long distances. A belt of this sort is practically invulnerable to any sort of physical damage and has many other desirable features when used for long-distance microwave communication."

College Chosen By Federation For Conference

Victoria College has been chosen as the site for the 1964 western regional conference of the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

This was announced Saturday when 10 local students returned from this year's conference at UBC.

Student president Larry Devlin said the college's hosting the conference would "firmly establish" the federation on the local campus.

At this year's conference, freshmen orientation, and the role of the Canadian student in international affairs were among topics discussed.

Delegates passed a resolution asking Ottawa to clarify its stand on RCMP investigation, and rejected in principle a proposed student charter.

ASTRONOMER CRITICAL

MANCHESTER, England (Reuters)—British astronomer Sir Bernard Lovell today criticized a new United States "space needles" experiment. "The damage lies not with this experiment alone, but with the attitude of mind which makes it possible without international agreement and safeguards," said Lovell, director of the giant radio telescope at Jodrell Bank.

Black Admits Lipscomb Was on Heroin

Police Seeking Third Man

BALTIMORE (AP)—A preliminary hearing on narcotics charges against the 25-year-old drinking partner of Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, National Football League defensive tackle who died Friday, was postponed until May 17.

Bond was set at $10,000 Sunday for Timothy N. Black, charged with the possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Police requested the postponement for further investigation of the case.

The 34-year-old Pittsburgh Steelers player was found dead in Black's apartment early Friday after he and Black spent the evening drinking with two girls.

Maryland's chief medical examiner, Dr. Russell S. Fisher, said Friday the "presumption is that this man Lipscomb is dead as a result of an overdose of narcotics, and by that we mean heroin, possibly accidentally injected."

BOUGHT HEROIN

Capt. Joseph P. Carroll of the Baltimore police narcotics squad said Black told him that he and Lipscomb went out and bought $12 worth of heroin after the girls left the apartment.

Lipscomb injected the heroin into his arm with a home-made syringe, Black told police, and collapsed almost immediately, drooling from the mouth. Black was trying to revive Big Daddy by putting ice bags on his head and between his legs when a third man walked into the apartment.

The third man and Black then injected a salt and water mixture into Big Daddy's veins, hoping it would work as an effective antidote.

When this failed, the men called an ambulance. Lipscomb was pronounced dead on arrival at Lutheran Hospital.

Police are looking for the third man to question him. Black said he had known the 290-pound tackle for more than a year but that Lipscomb had been on heroin for only a few months.

CRAWFORD ROUTS COPP; IN VANCOUVER FINAL

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lyle Crawford, Langara professional, Sunday won the Vancouver City match play golf title with a 6-and-5 victory in a 36-hole final against Byron Copp.

The victory was worth $400 to the 30-year-old Crawford.

Copp, who said he was embarrassed to take it, got $310.

Copp was about 14 over par for the 31 holes played at Shaughnessy.

"Anytime someone shoots what I shot and wins money, something has got to be wrong," said Copp.

Crawford, who beat pro Al Nelson for the title on two earlier tries, was about six over par.

Crawford said he would be willing to play Victoria amateur Bill Wakeham for the B.C. match-play title. Wakeham, winner of the Vancouver Island Open, is also agreeable to the match.

"All we need is a course and somebody to set up arrangements," said Wakeham, who watched Crawford score his easy victory.

Stamps Falling Back Into Senior Company

CALGARY (CP)—A group of sportsmen have made a bid to take over hockey at the Allan Cup level from the exhibition board, Alderman Bill Dickie said Saturday.

The alderman, whose group includes Ray Barry, a former star with Calgary Stampede's Western Hockey League entry, said the group will be expanded later.

Dickie said it was the second application made by his group. It applied to take over the professional WHL entry last December.

"We are becoming that application because of the new circumstances we are more interested in senior amateur hockey than the professional brand."

He referred to an exhibition board committee recommendation the club withdraw from the WHL for the 1963-64 season. Calgary's withdrawal likely would halt operations of Edmonton Flyers in the WHL.

Dickie said he had talked to ex-National League stars Bert Olmstead and Al Rollins about the prospects of returning to senior amateur hockey.

Rollins now was in Saskatchewan on a business trip and was asked to bring back details of the operation of the Saskatchewan Senior League.

"If we succeeded in getting exclusive use of the Corral for an Allan Cup team we would be interested in getting into the Saskatchewan league," said Dickie.

Get Around Joins Preakness Party

By Associated Press

The big four from the Kentucky Derby, headed by Chateaugay, and Get Around, are expected to slug it out Saturday in the $150,000 added Preakness Stakes at Baltimore.

The 87th running of the famous Pimlico classic continues the torrid Derby duel of May 4 in a battle for three-year-old supremacy.

John W. Galbreith's Chateaugay upset the Derby champion in Louisville, with Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend, Rex C. Ellsworth's Candy Spots and Ambush Stable's On My Honor following him home in that order.

Now Maine Chance Farm's Get Around, who captured the $61,000 Withers Mile Saturday at Aqueduct after passing up the $151,400 Derby, pops into the scrambled picture. Two others likely to join the fun at Pimlico Saturday are Jacot Stable's Country Squire and Mrs. Charles D. Morgan's Sky Wonder.

Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham, who owns Get Around, said it was up to her trainer whether he started in the Preakness. Trainer George Poole said "chances are good that he will go."

Get Around came from 10th place in a field of 11 to overtake Sky Wonder in the final strides of the Withers, paying $3.80 straight.

Koufax' No-Hitter Paces Dodgers' Sudden Surge

B.C.'s Bowsfield Barely Misses Moment of Glory

Times News Services

The Los Angeles Dodgers' loud and clear message to the San Francisco Giants and the National League today is that the scars of 1962 are having no effect upon the stars of 1963.

In short, the Dodgers have met their first "crooshul" test of the new season—and passed it with flying colors.

The Dodgers' resurgence, the second no-hitter of his career by Sandy Koufax, a near no-hitter by B.C.-born Ted Bowsfield of Kansas City, and some sensational pitching by youngsters Sam McDowell and Dave Morehead . . . these were the highlights of the weekend baseball scene.

The scars of the pennant-costing 1962 collapse were uppermost in the minds of NL observers 72 hours ago when the Dodgers, reeling and groggy and with manager Walt Alston's future still a big question mark, squared off in a three-game series with the Giants—their first meeting with the team that beat them out for the flag in last year's post-season playoff.

The obvious question was how the Dodgers would react to their first meeting with the defending champions—and the Dodgers answered it with a dramatic three-game sweep in which (1) Don Drysdale flashed his 25-game winning form of 1962, (2) Koufax made the Giants the victims of the second no-hitter of his career and (3) they rallied for three eighth-inning runs and a 6-5 Sunday triumph.

A Sunday crowd of 43,964 saw the Dodgers complete the sweep Sunday with MVP shortstop Maury Willis, playing his first game at third base, contributing a key double to the decisive rally. The Dodgers went into the eighth inning trailing 5-2 and without a hit since the second inning when they started their flash rally. Singles by Jim Gilliam, Ron Fairly and Wally Moon preceded the decisive sacrifice fly by Johnny Roseboro.

PHILLIES BAG PAIR

Philadelphia Phillies downed Milwaukee Braves 4-3 and 6-5, New York Mets edged out Cincinnati Reds 13-12, after losing the opener 3-0. Pittsburgh Pirates topped St. Louis Cardinals 4-3, after a 2-1 defeat, and Houston Colts nipped Chicago Cubs 2-1, in other NL games.

In the American League, Cleveland Indians beat Detroit Tigers, 9-3, Kansas City Athletics edged Minnesota Twins 2-1, New York Yankees topped Baltimore Orioles 2-0, Boston Red Sox beat Washington Senators 4-1, after a 3-2 loss, and Los Angeles Angels downed Chicago White Sox 7-6, after a 14-2 debacle.

Koufax, who has had a ton of thrills in his major league baseball career, said he got the biggest one by far Saturday night when he pitched a no-hitter against the National League champions San Francisco Giants.

He also pitched a no-hitter last year.

'GREATEST THRILL'

The Dodgers southpaw had a perfect game until Ed Bailey drew a walk on a full count with one out in the eighth inning. The only other Giant to reach base was pinch-hitter Willie McCovey, who walked in the ninth.

"To pitch a perfect game would have been the greatest thrill," Koufax said. "It's too bad I walked those two guys, but it still is my greatest thrill."

Sandy's achievements, before this one, included two 18-strikeout performances, one against the Giants in 1959 and the other against Chicago Cubs last year. He is the only man in major league history

DEJECTED after losing no-hit bid in ninth inning is Kansas City's Ted Bowsfield.

Fastest Human Of His Time

The man they called the world's fastest human died Sunday at his home in Winnipeg.

Bobby Kerr, 81, ran the 100-yard dash and the 220 in 9.4 and 21.3 seconds back in 1910 when starting blocks were unknown.

Born in Enniskillen, Ireland, Kerr won more than 400 awards and trophies and held six Canadian records simultaneously.

He competed in two Olymppics, was captain of the Canadian team at a third and manager of the track and field team at a fourth.

Many times he won all the sprinting championships at Canadian meets.

In 1910 he swept the card at the Canadian championships at Winnipeg, running the century in 9.4, creating a world's record of 14.3 for the 150 yards and running the 220 in 21.3.

Elsewhere and otherwise in sport . . .

At Indianapolis Saturday, Parnell Jones, who already owns the Indy motor speed record, drove a lap at 152.027 miles an hour, the fastest ever recorded at the track . . . At London, death hung over a 15-lap motorcycle test . . . British driver David Downer, hitting 90 miles an hour, crashed into a cycle driven by British champion Derek Minter . . . The two machines and riders slid 600 yards before coming to rest . . . Downer died almost instantly. Minter was taken to hospital . . .

Well, Massachusetts finally made it official—Dick Tiger is not only the middleweight champion of the world, he's recognized in Massachusetts as well . . . The state had stood behind Paul Pender until the former Brookline, Mass., fireman announced his ring retirement last week . . .

At Sao Paulo, Brazil, Lethbridge Nationals went down to Russia 58-45 in the opening round of the world basketball championships . . . The U.S., trailing 42-41 at the half, rallied to down Mexico, 88-74 . . . A three-over-par 75 Sunday gave Mickey Wright a 54-hole total of 219—the score she predicted would win the Alpine Civilian women's golf open tournament at Alexandria, Ia. . . Her prediction was correct—she won by a stroke over Jo Ann Prentice . . . Miss Wright picked up $1200 . . .

At Hamilton, Bruce Kidd sped to an unprecedented fifth victory in the National Steel Car War Veterans' annual 2½-mile road race . . .

BOISTEROUS START FOR JUNIOR ROCKS

CHILLIWACK—Victoria's Minto Cup champions could be headed for a rugged summer.

The Junior Shamrocks opened the new Inter-City Junior Lacrosse League on a brawling, boisterous note here Sunday as they hammered out an 18-4 triumph over Chilliwack.

At times there appeared a question whether the clubs were playing lacrosse or just having an old-fashioned free-for-all. At any rate, the referees were kept busy doling out penalties and completed their chores by handing 75 minutes to Victoria and 37 to the home club.

Ray Beech of Shamrocks and Harry Wooley of Chilliwack collected match misconducts for fighting and Chilliwack coach Eric Dickinson was ejected during a fourth-quarter brawl.

Bill Munro was top scorer for the Shamrocks, picking up five goals and four assists. Dave Collett also had five goals. Brian Spaven, Nirmal Dillon and Rod Kilduff each got two; Beech and Glen Vickers each fired one.

Victoria goalie Jim Place stopped 16 shots and Chilliwack's Ted Kennedy blocked 31.

Sepka Scores Six Against Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP)—Cliff Sepka scored six goals Saturday night and set up the play for two others to lead New Westminster to a 14-9 victory over Nanaimo in inter-city lacrosse league action.

Royal City used a deadly power play to score four of the goals with Jack Bionda being the trigger man on two. They also scored one while short-handed.

After spotting Nanaimo the first three goals, New Westminster came back to lead 5-4 at the end of the first period. The visitors increased the margin to 7-5 at halftime and 9-6 at the three-quarter mark.

Wayne Shuttleworth scored three for New Westminster and singles went to Gordie Stidolph, Mike Gates, and Bill Wilkes.

John Ferguson led Nanaimo scoring with three goals and Terry Davis and Murry Thomas got two each. The others were scored by Ed McDonald and Al Fearon.

Referees Sid Greenwood and Arnie Ferguson called a total of 49 minutes in penalties. New Westminster getting 27, Bill Russell of Nanaimo and Jim Watson of New Westminster each got 10 minutes for fighting in the third period.

Imperial 'Lumber' Wrecks McLarens

They parted the softball curtain Sunday and you can blame that Imperial "lumber" for causing the damage.

Imperial Esos swung big bats and pounded out 17 hits to rout McLarens 14-6 as the Senior Men's League opened at Heywood Avenue Park.

Basketball star Darrel Lormer and Amos Happy paced the sluggers. First-sacker Lormer collected three hits in five trips, including a two-run homer. Happy added a homer and triple to Imps' total.

Bob Lowe's three-run blast in the first inning was biggest of six hits off winning pitcher Gordie Houston.

Play in the three-team league continues Tuesday with Sooko facing McLarens.

Imperial 213-14 37 2 McLarens 303 603-6 6 5 Gordie Houston, Barry Jackson and Bill Peterson, Bob Turner, Ken Oliphant and Jim Wilson.

EVE'S TASTE VICTORY IN WEST COAST RELAYS

FRESNO, Calif. (CP)—A Canadian-born student at Oregon State University was a member of the winning Oregon distance medley team at the West Coast Relays Saturday.

Lynn Eves, 20-year-old Victoria runner, ran the 440-yard leg of the relay. The team equalled the meet record of nine minutes 40.5 seconds in defeating teams from San Jose State University, University of Southern California, Stanford and Arizona.

Other members of the winning team were Americans Norm Hoffman, Jan Underwood and Morgan Groth.

Scottish Snipers Keep Rifle Trophy

The coveted Gordon Trophy will remain in Canadian Scottish quarters for a second successive year.

Canadian Scottish marksmen retained possession of the Victoria and District Rifle Association trophy Sunday by topping four other teams in the annual match at Heals Range.

'Down Under' Girls to Play In Vancouver

VANCOUVER—Two women's grass hockey teams from "Down Under" will meet two Canadian teams here Oct. 12, following the world championships at Baltimore, Md., in September.

The Australian and New Zealand teams will meet an all-Canada squad, which will also play in the world tourney, and a Vancouver team.

The Canadian entry in the championships will leave Toronto late in August for training at Valley Farm, outside Detroit.

Christine Grant, Burnaby North High School teacher, has been appointed coach-manager of the Canadian team. She came to Canada in 1961 after playing and coaching grass hockey in Scotland.

Eastern Juniors Play Northwest

TORONTO (CP)—Brenda Nunns, Toronto, Ontario's junior tennis champion, and Jean Laverdure, Montreal, ranked fourth among Canada's junior under-18s, have been nominated eastern junior representatives to tour the Pacific Northwest circuit this summer. The announcement was made this week by E. C. Condon, Ottawa, chairman of junior development for the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

Misses Nunns and Laverdure will be entered in tournaments at Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

Memorial Cup Added To Edmonton Swag

EDMONTON (CP)—This city, which had never won a junior team championship outside high school curling until last fall, today boasts three after Oil Kings edged Niagara Falls Flyers 4-3 in a thrilling climax for the Memorial Cup junior hockey championship Saturday night.

Oil Kings' victory gave them the best-of-seven series 4-2 and another sell-out crowd of more than 6,700 was on hand to give them a tumultuous ovation as the game ended.

It was Edmonton's first junior hockey title in seven trips to the national final and it followed victories by Edmonton Huskies last fall in the Canadian Junior football final and Wayne Sabo's triumph earlier this year in the Canadian high school curling championships.

It was the first time since 1930 when Regina Pats won that a club west of Manitoba has taken the crown.

Doug Fox, Glen Sather, Butch Paul and Gregg Pilling gave Edmonton a 4-0 margin in the first 49 minutes of play but Flyers, crippled by the loss of two front-line wingers through injuries, stormed back on goals by Bill Glashan, Ron Schock and Terry Crisp to make it close.

B.C. BORN GOALIE
In the final 90 seconds goalie Russ Kirk was forced to make three sprawling saves on close-in bouncing shots and two other hard drives whistled by unguarded goal posts and missed the net by inches.

Kirk, a 17-year-old Burnaby native in his first year as a junior, had an up and down season entering the final game. But he came up strong Saturday night.

With both clubs fighting for the all-important first goal he stopped Wayne Maxner, Flyers' top scorer in the regular season and playoffs, on a breakaway.

In the third he again robbed Maxner from close in after Niagara Falls had counted twice to cut Edmonton's margin to 4-2 and began to hem Oil Kings in their own end.

Owner-coach Hap Emms of Flyers said, "if we had scored that first goal the entire pattern of the game would have changed." He said it was the turning point of the game.

BALL SPARKS UNITED

UBC's Case Impressive

Victoria United turned defeat into victory in the last minute of play, but that jarring little incident won't deter the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds from applying for a Pacific Coast Soccer League franchise.

Despite United's upsetting action at Royal Athletic Park, coach Joe Johnson's T-Birds will carry an imposing brief to a PCSL meeting next month when they seek admittance into Western Canada's premier fifta circuit.

Even in losing, UBC showed it has the qualifications to "belong." A hustling squad that sticks to the business at hand, Thunderbirds appear much stronger than either Pilseners or North Shore—the PCSL's last-place teams.

And consider, too, the fact that UBC has won three, tied one and lost but one of its five matches with PCSL sides this year. The Birds beat Columbus twice by 3-1 scores, blanked North Shore 1-0, and tied Firefighters 1-1.

But for the efforts of Russ Ball, bouncing into United's inside right spot at half time, Thunderbirds might have compiled an unbeaten record against PCSL teams. UBC led 2-0 at the half Saturday.

Ball, replacing George Paul, tied the score with goals at 17 and 37 minutes. At 38 minutes, however, Jim Jamieson scored his second goal of the game to put UBC in the lead again, 3-2.

Then came United's last-minute heroics. Henry Vanderhorst banged in a Bill Hamilton lob to tie it again. Ball headed in the winner 30 seconds later, taking a cross from Chummy Crabbe.

United, waiting to meet Firefighters, won't play its sudden-death league semifinal until May 25 or 26.

PCSL playoffs are being delayed by Province Cup activity, with both Firefighters and Columbus still in the hunt for B.C.'s top soccer prize.

Columbus meets the defending champion Firefighters next Sunday in a cup semifinal. Thunderbirds will play Vancouver Italian-Canadians in the other Province Cup semi on Saturday.

Columbus reached the semifinals Sunday by defeating Pilseners 3-1, coming from behind a 1-0 half-time deficit.

Canadians' Shutout Closes Boot Schedule

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Canadians defeated North Shore United 2-0 before a small crowd of 300 Saturday in the last Pacific Coast Soccer League game of the season.

The result had no bearing on the league picture, as Canadians had already won the league title. North Shore finished in last place in the eight-team league.

Canadians missed numerous easy chances to score, including a penalty kick by Neil McEachnie in the first half.

The Canadians didn't manage to score until the 68-minute mark when McEachnie's long shot went into the net off the goalpost. Centre-forward Mel Cooper got the second goal nine minutes later when a mixup between two North Shore defenders left him with a clear route to goal.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER may flock together but at the Victoria Exhibition the opposite is true. Birds of many different feathers stand side by side. George Christensen is holding this cocky silver spangled Hamburg who is obviously very proud of his well-groomed tail.

ONE CLOGGED WATER JET can spoil the show, so each morning before the "Dancing Waters" opens to the public each of the 4,000 and some jets are inspected. Pete Ramsay wades about in rubber boots making sure that a piece of dirt isn't going to ruin the show.

APPROXIMATELY 170 RABBITS with coats all brushed and spotless, arrived in crates at the Victoria Exhibition this morning. Among the largest is this Giant Flemish as he towers over the black nosed Californian. Keeping an eye on both is Ross Gillespie.

MIDWAY CARNIES worked feverishly over the weekend preparing for opening day, but for some it was too much. Sylvia Caron curls up in a Tilt-a-Wheel chair to take time out for a short nap in the warm sunshine. (Times photos by Bill Halkett.)

Jaycees Shooting for 100,000-Plus at Week-Long Exhibition

By MARGE GILROY

Today is the day many kiddies have been waiting for since this time last year — opening day of the Victoria Exhibition. Jaycees are hopeful of topping a previous record crowd of 100,000 if weather remains favorable until final day on Saturday. The midway is bigger and better and there are many more and new exhibits. Among the highlights of the exhibits will be a closed television circuit and the educational television, sponsored by the B.C. Telephone Company and a 15-foot look-out tower erected by the Department of Forests.

On Sunday the last of the entertainers arrived in town — Jimmy Rodgers with the Fairmont Singers and Tippy and Cobina, stars of a chimpanzee act. Also with the show is Emcee juggler, Tommy Blacker. There will be two shows daily in the Memorial Arena starting at 3:30 and 10 p.m. Other participants in the fair, who do not qualify as entertainers but provide plenty of amusement, started to arrive on Sunday and were still arriving early this morning. They are cattle, rabbits and poultry. There will be approximately 170 rabbit entries in all, including about 15 different breeds. Among the largest are the pink-eyed Giant Flemish who reach as much as 25 pounds when mature. In the poultry division a well-groomed Plymouth Rock rooster was crowing at the honor of being selected as a prize bird to represent his class. Nearby was a black Wyndott having its toes inspected for cleanliness. Rosecombs, Millefleurs and Silver Spangled Hamburgs are just a few more of the 30 breeds represented in the 75 poultry entries. Judging of poultry and rabbits will continue today and Tuesday. Cattle were slower in taking up their position at the fair but judging of the Ayrshire cattle took place this afternoon at 1:30. Further along on the grounds, under a great canopy, men were busy cleaning the water jets for one of the main attractions at the fair — the Dancing Waters show.

Dancing Waters can be seen every afternoon and evening Monday to Saturday. On the midway large cartons of teddy bears were being unpacked ready for the winners of the games of chance. Fences and box office were being set up in front of the many rides that went into operation this afternoon. Oil cans were flying and motors being checked to ensure a week of smooth operation. In the arena and the curling rink, trucks, cars and packing cases filled every available corner. Only one or two stalls remain vacant for would-be exhibitors. Other attractions today, and every day, at 3 and 10:45 p.m. are the Enchanters with a Hawaiian Revue on the Curling Rink stage. In the agricultural show ring will be Michael Williams with a gun dog and sheep dog working demonstration daily. Tonight at 7:30 there will be the Miss Victoria pageant and fashion show on the arena stage. Commentator will be Helen Beirnes. To night's contestants will be Miss Marjorie Elrose, playing an accordion solo and Miss Linden Louis, dancing a ballet. Miss Synnove Pettersen will officially open the exhibition tonight in the arena immediately before the second Jimmie Rodgers show starts at 10. Weekly passes are available for $1.25, entitling the holder to participate in the nightly draws for prizes worth at least $500. Draws will be made nightly at 11. Saturday the final prize winner will be the owner of a 1963 Ford Galaxia sedan. On the north side of the curling rink there will be nightly dancing from 9 to 11, to the music of the Pharaohs.

ANOTHER SUGAR PRICE INCREASE BY WEEKEND

Another retail sugar price increase, amounting to three or four cents on a 10-pound bag, is expected to hit Victoria by next weekend, local retailers confirmed today. Cost of 10 pounds of sugar is likely to be between $1.66 and $1.68 compared to $1.53 a week ago. The retail boost follows four refinery price increases since the beginning of last week due to the current world sugar shortage. Prices have doubled since last October. Local retailers say that some further increases in "sugar-related" products such as jams, canned fruits, candy, biscuits and other confections can be expected soon.

Topics of the Day

Youngsters with BB guns gave Saanich police trouble Sunday evening. But the father of two of them made sure they won't cause any more trouble with their air guns.

A motorist whose car was parked outside 5529 Alderly Road discovered a hole had been shot through the window. Police surmise it was caused by a BB pellet. Less than an hour later they received complaints of youngsters with BB guns in the 1200 block Pearce Crescent. Police caught several juveniles and took them home to their parents.

Says the police report on the incident: the father "took the situation well in hand by breaking the BB gun over his knee."

Burnside PTA will meet this evening at 7:45 in the school auditorium. Program will include a gymnastic display and folk dancing by a group of the students.

The Intimate Stage theatre group will meet tonight at 8 in the Victoria College theatre hut on the Gordon Head campus. Plans for the summer's dramatic productions will be discussed.

Three Horsemen Raid Chilliwack Contest Events

Three local riders came home today loaded with over $100 in prize money and ribbons won at the Chilliwack Riding Club horse show Saturday and Sunday. Merle and Duncan Rimmer and Derk Albers between them won 10 first prizes, seven seconds and four thirds in the 16 events.

There were about 70 competitors from all over the province taking place in the two day western riding competition, which included pony express, Gretna Green and stoke races.

A pedestrian is in fairly good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today after receiving a broken arm in an accident at Pandora and Cook Saturday. D. H. Thomas, 1242 Fort, was crossing the street when he was in collision with a car driven by John Renyk, 1319 Fernwood, police reported.

Three sailors were each fined $75 when they pleaded guilty in Oak Bay police court today to theft of a doctor's bag and contents valued over $50.

Douglas Allen, George Alish and Roy Steiger, all with good service records, said they had been drinking at the time of the incident.

Oak Bay police said the contents of the bag were intact when it was recovered from bushes where it had been thrown. There was no suggestion that the bag had been stolen for the drugs it contained.

Keith Mullaik, 20, of 723 Yates, who last week was sentenced to two years less a day in Oakalla jail, received a two-year sentence Saturday in Sooke RCMP court on another charge of breaking and entering.

The terms will be served concurrently. But now Mullaik will have to go to the B.C. penitentiary to serve his terms instead of Oakalla.

The charge in Sooke concerned a break-in Nov. 13 at Kane's garage in Sooke. The sentence last week was for three charges of breaking and entering in the Sooke area between Jan. 30 and 31.

Oak Bay council will hold a special meeting at 7:30 tonight to give final readings to its 1963 budget and tax bylaws, setting the mill rate at 44.5, an increase of four mills over last year.

Inmate Flees Open-Door Prison Here

A prisoner with less than a year to serve of a three-year sentence for attempted rape walked out of William Head minimum security prison Sunday. Steve Detchuk, 45, was recaptured by prison guards seven hours after he was reported missing at supper time. He was discovered on a road about two miles from the fenceless prison. RCMP said he put up no resistance. He was still wearing prison garb when captured.

Price War Fear Behind Order On Chicken Sale

Prevention of a price war was the reason the B.C. Broiler Marketing Board prevented Oakcrest Foodliner owner Henry Eng from selling chickens at 29 cents a pound, board chairman Robert Blair said Sunday.

Mr. Eng says he has sold nearly 4,000 of the birds since board officials seized some of them Thursday afternoon and stopped him selling them at less than cost price.

"We don't set a floor price," said Mr. Blair, "we don't have any more restrictions than to say retailers cannot sell for less than they pay for chickens."

Price of the chickens was boosted to 39 cents a pound after the board "raid." About 800 had been sold at the low price before the board stepped in.

Increase in price would bring it up barely to cost. No decision has been made about charging Mr. Eng, said Mr. Blair.

Below-cost selling brought the board into existence in January, 1962, after it was claimed that 19 chicken producers and two processing plants had been forced into bankruptcy.

Freak Explosion Injures Fireman

Assistant city fire chief William J. Wiggs suffered severe burns to the hands and face Saturday afternoon when a quantity of fine sawdust from a floor-sanding machine exploded in a cardboard carton. The sawdust was alight when Mr. Wiggs picked up the carton to move it away from a new apartment block under construction at 936 Collinson, near Vancouver Street.

Flames shot up. "It was like gunpowder going off," he said. "The moment I lifted the carton the air got in underneath and the flames shot up in my face with a kind of 'whoosh!'"

"They burned my hands and face and the pain was so intense I flung the carton away from me. At first I thought my uniform was alight but fortunately this was not so."

City firemen extinguished the flames while Mr. Wiggs was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment. He returned to his home at 429 Springfield Road two hours later with his hands badly blistered and heavily bandaged.

The fire brigade was called to 936 Collinson at around 4:30 p.m. Saturday when a passerby noticed a number of burning cartons in a lot behind the new apartment building.

All of them contained sawdust which had been discarded after use in the building.

DANGEROUS SPOT "One of them was dangerously close to the new building so I went to move it while No. 1 fire truck went to work on the others."

The base of the carton I picked up must have been burned through, so that the air rushed up through it causing the sawdust to explode."

In all of his 34 years' service with Victoria fire brigade, Mr. Wiggs cannot recall this type of accident before.

"I've had burns all right," he said, "but never from picking up a carton."

Fire Chief John Abbott said the sawdust from the floor-sanding machine should have been disposed of before workmen left the new apartment block Friday evening.

"It should never have been left around like that," he said.

Huge Development For Harbor Front

West Bay Project Imminent

A huge, multi-million-dollar residential and commercial complex is planned for West Bay along north side of Victoria harbor.

The plans — including three high rise apartment buildings, a full-scale marina and associated developments — are to be revealed in detail Tuesday by the promoters.

A number of officials and community leaders have been invited to a reception at the Union Club to hear the plans. Those contacted by The Times kept mum but other sources sketched in the broad outlines of the scheme today.

A land assembly operation will consolidate several Victoria West acres between Maitland and Barnard, south of Esquimalt Road, barely inside the city boundary.

NEAR RCMP PROPERTY

The development will be next to a block of property purchased some time ago by the RCMP right on the Victoria-Esquimalt boundary for its proposed new provincial headquarters with marine facilities.

At least three 12-storey high-rise apartments are planned to overlook the harbor area and give a view of the strait and Olympic Mountains.

A large marina would be established at the water's edge. There also are rumors that some other commercial developments would be included to round out the scheme.

The high-rise buildings would complement similar developments now adorning the James Bay side of the harbor.

If the developers believed to be a Victoria-Vancouver syndicate go ahead, this would give the Inner Harbor "horseshoe" a tourist-government centre at the Causeway with modern tall apartment buildings on each wing.

PLANNERS APPROVE The West Bay area was one of several recommended by the Capital Region Planning Board recently for high rise development.

To top it off, the "three angry housewives" approve of the plan.

When told about it, Mrs. Shirley Dowell, 3270 Upper Terrace Road, said:

"We feel this is a good thing because it will upgrade a low-grade area while leaving good single family residential areas."

"It would fit in with the Capital Region Planning Board's recommendations and could be easily included in a community master plan for which we are campaigning."

Mrs. Dowell and two other housewives have won considerable publicity for their fight against better-sketter high-rise zoning.

Commissionaire's Labor Law Charges Bring Corps Meeting

Local commissionaires have been ordered to attend a meeting Wednesday as a result of charges that the corps is violating provincial labor laws, it was learned today.

Honorary commandant of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires here, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, has issued the summons to a "shift" meeting in Esquimalt Sports Centre at 1 and 6 p.m.

However, he denied that the meeting was called as a result of recent criticism by a former commissionaire that the Corps was operating a "little Siberia" at a Colwood naval supply depot.

Meanwhile, it was reported, the corps has reduced overtime for commissionaires and has increased the number of relief men at the Colwood detachment from one to three.

Violation of labor laws by the corps was one of the abuses claimed by Robert Quinn, 65, of 4831 West Saanich, in a Times interview Friday of recent criticism by a former

Claimed Men Spied Upon at Work

Mr. Quinn, a former corporal commissionaire, also said officers and NCOs were arrogant and dictatorial, "spied" on commissionaires on duty, and curried favor with high-ranking naval officers.

"This is the first time in the history of the corps, so long as I can remember, that a meeting of the men has been called," he said today.

Mr. Wurtele said he had called the meeting to discuss "the matter of provincial labor laws."

Violation Not Intended—Deputy

Mr. Sands said today: "As far as I know the corps was not deliberately violating provincial labor laws."

"There were instances where the Hours of Work Act was being violated, but I understand this is being taken care of by a re-arrangement of shifts," he explained.

Wurtele said in answer to Mr. Quinn's complaint that commissionaires are forbidden to fraternize with naval personnel and civilian workers. "It would be difficult to search cars and hand out parking violation cards to people with whom you are fraternizing."

"Mr. Quinn, during his army career, I am sure, made rounds of sentry posts on many occasions. This is not spying, it is making sure that the guard is well and alert at all times and is understood by all servicemen," he said.

"What was not said in this accusation was that the corps is a non-profit employment agency. It is not the employer in the accepted sense; the employers are the department of national defence and other government departments, provincial governments, civic authorities, business institutions and private individuals," he added.

'HIT THEM BEFORE THEY HIT US' IS PARKS CHIEF'S APPEAL

Call to Arms . . . Caterpillars on the March!

A massive pre-emptive strike by all Greater Victoria gardeners against tent caterpillars was urged by city parks administrator W. H. Warren today.

"There is a terrific invasion of tent caterpillars in the making," he warned.

The only solution is to hit them before they hit us, he indicated.

Hundreds of thousands of the furry, orange creatures will leave their nests in the next few weeks as the weather warms up.

Right now they are in their most vulnerable stage—a hundred or more grubs in each silky white "tent"—about the size of a fist—wrapped around tree branches.

"Right now they are concentrated and relatively easy to kill," said Mr. Warren. "The nests should be sprayed with DDT. The branches should not be cut down or burned because that causes unnecessary injury to the tree."

"But the spraying should be carefully done—directly on the nests and not on any fruit blossoms because DDT will also kill bees."

Mr. Warren said his department is busy spraying boulevard trees now.

He said this year will be the peak of the caterpillars' regular seven-year cycle.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Let There Be Candlelight In Your Home This Summer

By PENNY SAVER

Next time someone advises Penny that you can't burn the candle at both ends, she's going to march them into her dining room and show them her latest candle centerpiece. Because it is U-shaped, you literally can burn both ends! Price in store which has set up specialty corner of candles is $2.50.

Candles made of honeycomb are available in all styles, all sizes and store owner says they not only burn well but give off a sweet-smelling odor. Nine-inch taper-types sell for 95 cents a pair; 12-inch for $1.75 a pair. There are oodles of colors too, and some that are quite different from those of other types of candles.

For the do-it-yourself addict, the shop sells a kit for $2.95 that contains enough sheets of honeycomb to make 12 17-inch taper candles. Directions are given, as well as wicks and some sparkle decorations.

Matches have a habit of burning too fast when there are a number of candles to light, so this store has got in a supply of long or short single sticks. No burned fingers with these. You light one and it lasts while you light all your candles. Boxes of longs are 75 cents; shorts are 50 cents.

Another complaint is that candleholders won't always take the size you wish to use. Rubber adapters which come six in a package for 50 cents convert large holders to tiny ones. If difference isn't too great, a tin foil cup, like those you bake cupcakes in, can be fitted on base of candle to take up extra room. There are a dozen of these in a box for 25 cents.

Store also carries candle coasters which fit over candle and down on top of holder to ensure that your centerpiece doesn't have a lean like the tower of Pisa. Price is six for $1.50.

Again for those who make their own (this time holders), shop has black or gold holder-pieces that can be screwed into a base, such as driftwood, if that is what you design with. Plain black or gold are 75 cents. Gold holder with wider, circular black base is $1.

Increase the romance of your candlelight by eliminating these little worries. Phone Penny at 382-3131 for name of shop.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

DEAR ABBY

For the Birds! By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife has a parakeet and it's driving me nuts. It pecks holes in the plaster, peels paint off the walls and flies over the table when we are eating. I suppose it's my fault because I'm the one who bought it for her. But, Abby, I bought a cage to go with it, and it's never in the cage. My wife says a bird is SUPPOSED to be free to fly all over or it will get loony. I've seen plenty of parakeets in cages and they didn't look loony to me. In fact, I think OURS is loony. Advice is needed. END OF ROPE.

DEAR END: You're parakeet-pecked! All birds of the house pet variety should be in cages. It's unsanitary to let them fly all over the house. If your wife doesn't believe it, refer her to an ornithologist.

DEAR ABBY—My son, as a favor, gives his neighbor a free ride to work every morning. He doesn't want any money, and wouldn't accept any were it offered, but his gripe is this: He is kept waiting outside her house every morning, from five to ten minutes, making him late for work. He has given this lady several hints but they don't seem to sink in. Have you any suggestions?

IRATE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes. Your son should quit hinting and lay it on the line. The free-ride lady should be told that if she is not OUT IN FRONT when her "ride" arrives she will have to get to work some other way. What do you want to bet she doesn't miss more than one ride?

DEAR ABBY: Since I enlisted in the Navy two years ago I have had five girl friends. Every time I go home on leave I have to dig up another girl and try to talk her into getting married. She'll say before I go, and Dear John two months later. I am 21 years old, stand six feet three, weigh 200 pounds, have blue eyes and dark brown curly hair. I measure 46-32-36. Why do so many girls give me up for someone else? T. T. DEAR T.T.: You're young, Sailor. You will meet many more foolish, fickle girls. So far you've only met five.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LYNN: When he offered you the fin, you should have known there was something "fishy" about him.

Yes, Abby will send you a personal reply if you send her a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your problem.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Nuptial Mass at Wedding

Fr. W. J. O'Brien officiated at a recent nuptial mass ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral in which Patricia May Devereaux and Lorne Walter Thickett exchanged marriage vows and rings.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh John Devereaux, 1150 Bewdley Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thickett, 2845 Bryn-Mawr Road. Mr. Devereaux gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Margaret McKay played the organ and Miss Leona Hanley was soloist. Church decorations of white tulips, iris, lilac and narcissi were arranged by the Misses Catherine Devereaux and Muriel Burns.

Best man was Elwood Bussey and ushers were David Thickett, Paul Redchurch and Colin Fleck.

Red roses and lily of the valley decorated the bride's table at a reception in Sir William Wallace Room at Holyrood House. Head table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped by two white doves holding double rings. C. J. Collins proposed the toast.

For a honeymoon trip to California the bride chose a pale green-poodle cloth suit with matching coat, white flowered pixie hat, black accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds.

WHY GROW OLD? By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Spring Is Period to Soften Your Dried Out Complexion

While refreshing your figure for summer, don't forget to give your complexion, elbows and heels some special care. During the cold months' our faces and necks have been buffeted by cold and wind. The natural oils may have been slowed up. We have had less outdoor exercise and have spent hours in over heated houses. Also, we may have struggled with colds and viruses.

Don't forget that your elbows and heels need as much care after a winter as your face. This skin in these areas can become just as dry and wrinkled as the face. Take proper care of your elbows and heels by rubbing oils and creams on them regularly.

Treat your face to long periods of lubrication when you let the cream or oil soak in for several hours. Use a mask once a week. You can buy one or make one at home. The corn meal mask has long been a close friend of the feminine sex.

To yellow corn meal add enough buttermilk to make a thin paste, but not enough to make a runny mixture. Spread this on a cheesecloth mask which has holes cut in it for your eyes and nose. If you wish you can spread it on the skin itself. Keep dabbing a little buttermilk for 15 minutes and then let it dry. Afterwards rinse the mixture off with water.

Tomorrow is the eighth day of my 9-Day Reducing Diet. By now you should be noticing some tangible results. Keep it up... only two days of this special diet are left.

Here are the menus for Tuesday:

Breakfast: One egg, poached or boiled. One thin slice of whole wheat toast. Black coffee. One glass skimmed milk.

Luncheon: One portion salmon. Celery sticks. One-half cup steamed carrots. One-half grapefruit.

Dinner: Minute or club steak

Artists Display Crafts At Huge Show in Gallery

If your neighbor tells you that she's going to take up "spatterling," don't be alarmed and steer her towards a psychiatrist. She probably attended the two-day Craftsmen in Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild, weaving; Women's Committee, silk screening; Alan Brown, chair caning; Fritz Brunn, bookbinding; and Mr. and Mrs.

V. Cianci, sculpture and mosaics.

Clarence Cooper, violin making; Mrs. Esme Davis, basketry; Ted Davis and William Hooson, fish fly tying; Gilmar Pottery Studio, Erica Leary and L. F. Osborne, pottery; Eric Jo, calligraphy; Mrs. E. N. Lohrman, dish gardens; Paul Nafel, illuminating; Mrs. Louise Page, batik; Russell Potter, silhouettes; M. D. Robinson, penmanship; Miss Jenny Shypansky, Ukrainian egg decorating; Miss Sylvia Sutton, mosaics and the Victoria Lapidary and Mineral Society, rocks.

Fascinating to both children and their grandparents was display of collage by Mrs. Nell Bradshaw. This is done by taking the oddest assortment of sponges, canvas and other materials and pasting into a design.

When complete, the artist paints design to her own individual taste.

Show was arranged by the Women's Committee to the Art Gallery under convenership of Mrs. R. S. Conn.

Other exhibitors were: Joan Avery, enamelware; Mrs. H. V. Bartholomew, rug making; Ken Bostock, puppets; Mrs. Lou Buck, pottery; Mrs. C. F. Connerton, seaweed mounting and Miss F. Daniels, children's weaving class.

Mrs. Gay Donne, doll making; H. Eames, musical instruments; Mrs. Iris Godwin and Miss M. Hill, leatherwork; Mrs. D. Hadland, pottery; Tony and Henry Hunt, Thunderbird Park carving; Mrs. M. Metrakos, pastels; Kaj Nielsen and Rudy Seyfort, wood carving; Mrs. Peggy Walton Packard, sculpture; Ellis Pryce-Jones, cartooning; George Sinclair, jewelry; Mrs. Mary V. Stark, aluminum ware; Victorian Hand Weavers' Guild, weaving; Women's Committee, silk screening; Alan Brown, chair caning; Fritz Brunn, bookbinding; and Mr. and Mrs.

Nanaimo's Navy Day Highlighted by First Debutante Ball

Nanaimo, the up-island city that had its beginning in the labors of coal miners, grew yet another step in stature on Saturday evening when it held its first debutante ball.

The affair, in the new Nanaimo Golf and Country Club, was under the sponsorship of the Nanaimo Branch of the Navy League of Canada.

Eight young debutantes made their social debuts. Among them were Miss Susan Westwood, daughter of Hon. Earle Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation, and Mrs. Westwood and Miss Lorraine Strachan, daughter of Opposition Leader Bob Strachan and Mrs. Strachan.

Also making her first formal curtsy was Miss Margaret Johnstone, whose paternal grandmother, Mrs. Alex Johnstone of "St. Evar," Parksville, is a niece of a former lieutenant-governor of the province, the late Hon. T. W. Paterson.

Other debutantes were Miss Diane Baldwin, Miss Janet Davis, Miss Sue Stewart, Miss Marcia Jones and Miss Bobby Jean Burns.

An honor guard of Amphion Royal Canadian Sea Cadets flanked the young debutantes as they slowly made their way down the long red carpet toward the receiving line. Their colonial bouquets of pink sweetheart roses and lily of the valley were a perfect complement to white floor-length gowns.

For Nanaimo, this was Navy Day, and, in keeping, the debutantes were escorted by naval officers. Most were from the three ships tied up in Nanaimo Harbor, HMCS Fraser, HMCS Antigonish and HMCS Grise. Others were from HMCS Naden.

From the time Allan Campbell's orchestra struck the first notes for the debutantes' waltz, the eight debutantes and their escorts hardly missed a dance.

Fathers of the eight young ladies partnered them in the next dance and from then on the capacity crowd joined in to make the night one to be remembered in Nanaimo for all time.

And, when the last dance was over, the eight debutantes changed into less formal dresses and headed for yet another party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Jones.

John Turner Married On Saturday

WINNIPEG (CP) — Miss Geilles McCrae Kilgour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kilgour of Winnipeg, was married here Saturday to John N. Turner, Montreal lawyer and Liberal member of Parliament for Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George.

Rev. Daniel H. McLarnon, S. J., performed the afternoon ceremony in St. Ignace's Roman Catholic Church.

Some 305 guests, many from out of town, were invited to a reception afterward at the Manitoba Club.

The bride, 25, is a daughter of the president of Great-West Life Assurance Company. She is a graduate in business administration of Radcliffe College.

Mr. Turner, 33, is a son of Mrs. Frank M. Ross of Vancouver, chancellor at the University of British Columbia, and the late Leonard Hugh Turner. His stepfather, Hon. Frank Ross, is a former British Columbia Lieutenant-Governor.

Maid of honor was Miss Eve Riley of Montreal. John Grace of Ottawa was best man.

The bride wore a full-length gown of silk-faced peau de soie with scooped neckline and bracelet-length sleeves. The bodice and sleeve edges bore appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her floor-length veil of silk illusion, extending just beyond the gown, was held in place by a coronet of lace made from the headress worn by her mother at her own wedding.

Sign Book

Among Victorians who have signed the visitors' book at British Columbia House in San Francisco during the past week are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCann, Mr. and Mrs. E. Harrison and Karen, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Veitch, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Davies, Mr. H. Hobson, Mr. Jack Carmichael, Mrs. A. F. Kergin, Mrs. Arnold Jephson, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Ridgway and Miss J. L. Midlane.

Margaret Davis, Kenneth Messerschmidt Wed

Dr. F. E. H. James officiated at the wedding, Saturday evening in Metropolitan Church, when Evelyn Margaret Davis and Kenneth R. Messerschmidt exchanged vows.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. John H. Davis, 773 Middleton Street, formerly of Morin Heights, Que., and the late Mr. Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Messerschmidt, 775 Middleton Street.

Ice blue and white were color tones in church decorations arranged by Mrs. H. Abbott, Jr. A crystal bowl of white tulips was on the communion table; large baskets of white gladioli, stocks and snapdragons flanked the altar and ice blue bows and Esther Reed daisies marked guest pews.

Stanley Martin sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the service and "Because" while the register was being signed.

The dark-haired bride was an attractive picture in her Bianchi original gown of white norganza over pure silk. A panel of Swiss handmade lace with tiny covered buttons and re-embroidered with seed pearls, extended from neck to hemline; the bodice was styled with scoop neckline and lily point sleeves and the skirt, over hoops, had a chapel train.

A three-tier silk illusion net veil was held with a crown of crystals and seed-pearls and lily of the valley and gardenias were in the bouquet. Her only jewelry was an heirloom diamond brooch.

Stafford J. Boyd gave her in marriage. Senior attendants, Miss Sherry Messerschmidt, sister of the groom; Miss Heather Thomson, West Vancouver, a cousin of the bride; Miss Diana White, and the flower girl, Miss Sharlene Patterson, another cousin of the bride, wore original gowns of ice blue silk organza and toning headpieces of bridal roses and tulle. All four carried bouquets of Esther Reed daisies and wore sterling silver bracelets, gifts of the bride.

Best man was John Cox and the ushers were Frederick Messerschmidt, brother of the groom, and George Clare.

A reception was held in the Sir William Wallace Room at Holyrood House where the bride's table was centred with a four-tier wedding cake set in tulle tipped with rosebuds and flanked by white roses in silver vases and silver candelabra holding white candles. Guest tables were centred with blue iris, cedar tips and ice blue candles. Baskets of white gladioli, stocks and snapdragons completed the decor. An orchestra played for dancing.

Dr. T. H. Johns proposed the toast and telegrams of congratulations were read from Amsterdam, Holland; Lake Worth, Fla.; New York City, Morin Heights, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton, Bermuda.

The honeymoon will be spent in California, Mexico and Nevada. For travelling the bride wore a deep pink Italian knit suit by Louis Schrier of Montreal, wide brimmed hat of Swiss glazed straw, vanilla toned accessories and corsage of cymbidium orchids. The couple will live in Victoria.

Single UN Force 'Not Practical'

THIEVES GET BIG HAUL IN 'SWITCH'

LONDON (AP)—Thieves grabbed a parcel containing $24,000 ($72,000) worth of foreign currency in a lightning-fast switch theft at London Airport, British European Airways said Sunday.

The parcel vanished soon after a plane brought it here from Zurich. A dummy parcel was substituted in its place.

The money was snatched last Tuesday. BEA disclosed the theft in offering a £2,400 ($7,200) reward for its return.

Electricians Balk At Helicopter Work

VANCOUVER (CP)—Members of local 213 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, fired after refusing to work on a power-line project with helicopters, return to work today.

William Vaughan, president of Peterson Electrical Construction Co., said he ordered the 17 men fired on advice of the union's international vice-president, John Raymond, Toronto.

Prior to their dismissal, the local told them to stop working in or under helicopters on the project near Lillooet until insurance and danger pay were provided.

The workers met with company officials Saturday and reached unanimous agreement on safety conditions required during helicopter work. Danger pay, the other major issue, was to be resolved by arbitration.

YOUTHS FIRE MACHINE-GUN INTO SCHOOL

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—Four teen-aged youths were seized today in connection with the machine-gunning of a high school classroom and the home of an English teacher who flunked them.

Picked up and charged with possession and use of an Italian-made machine gun were: Edmund Kennedy, John Collins Jr., Stephen Cooke, all 17, and Richard Hohenrath Jr., 18, all of this Suffolk County community.

There were no injuries Friday night in the machine-gun firing. There was property damage to windows and walls.

Several bullets were fired through the front door of teacher Elizabeth Cubby's home in Huntington Station.

Also found on the youths, police said, were swastika armbands and neo-Nazi, anti-semitic literature.

Young Wardens Busy In Bamberton Outing

A brush fire was quelled and 37 campsites in Bamberton Park cleaned up Saturday as Saanich Junior Forest Wardens got Forest Conservation Week off to a brisk start.

They're following it up this week with a special booth in the Victoria Exhibition to promote the theme of Youth in Conservation, teaming up to staff it with the Victoria Junior Forest Wardens.

While the Saanich group was cleaning up Bamberton Park campsites, some members saw a fire on adjoining property getting out of control and threatening the park.

Woman Chutist Killed
BELGRADE (AP)—Marica Baric, 21-year-old Yugoslav woman parachuting champion, was killed at Zagreb airport Saturday when her parachute failed to open. She has jumped more than 230 times.

They took time out to help kill the blaze, then went back to work in the park.

Members of the group range in age from 10 to 16.

Dominion Drama Tests Tonight

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP)—Live community theatre with a "freshness" and "keen edge" is what Pierre Lefevre remembers about the Dominion Drama Festival he adjudicated in Victoria in 1953.

At a press conference here Sunday, en route from France to judge this year's festival beginning tonight in Kitchener, the pensive, soft-spoken actor-director said he will be watching for the same qualities.

Only after he sees the festival's eight plays, winners of the DDF regional competitions in March, will he be able to comment on the progress of the Canadian theatre and judge whether the festival is outdated, as is often suggested.

"In Canada the DDF has served a purpose. In many places, it was 'the' theatre and probably still is."

Mr. Lefevre is director of the acting school at the Centre Dramatique de l'Est in Strasbourg, France.

Mr. Lefevre will see the London Little Theatre's presentation of N. F. Simpson's surrealistic comedy One Way Pendulum tonight.

PRESENT SECOND PLAY
The Rainmaker by N. Richard Nash, played by the Sud-bury Little Theatre Guild, will follow Tuesday.

The Little Theatre Group from Coaldale, Alta., a town of 2,500 about 15 miles from Lethbridge, will present the Irish classic, The Well of Saints by J. M. Synge Wednesday afternoon.

Wednesday night, L'Atelier de Sherbrooke will perform 'in French Samuel Beckett's En Attendant Godot.

The Travelling Players of Halifax, whose production of Look Back in Anger won last year's festival, will present Arthur Laurent's Invitation to a March Thursday.

Friday, Le Veau Port, an experimental three-act play by Montreal playwright Claude Jas-min, which won six of the 12 prizes at the Montreal festival, will be presented in French by La Jeune Comedie de Montreal.

The Barn Players of Broadview YMCA in Toronto will perform Thornton Wilder's Our Town Saturday afternoon and the festival will end Saturday night, May 18 with Moliere's Tartuffe by the Stage 3 group from Saskatoon.

City Skater's Tryout Pays Off

strom, 20, of 2460 Cardigan, becomes part of the glittering world of professional skating next month when she joins Ice Follies in San Francisco.

The Victoria-born girl, who has been skating for 12 years, won a place with the company last weekend when, by chance, she attended an audition in Seattle. She had gone to visit two friends who were already in the show.

They are Berna Pednault and Susan Dillabough, who joined the show a year ago from Victoria.

The trio will play cities across the U.S., Toronto and Montreal, after the Sept. 1 opening in Los Angeles, but they will not skate for Victorians, who see Ice Capades instead of Ice Follies.

'The Drunkard' Coming To City Coffee House

An old-fashioned melodrama in the virtuous heroine and moustache twirling villain vein will play for two nights in a Victoria coffee house May 24 and 25.

The Drunkard, first produced in 1843, will be produced at the student-owned coffee house The Secret on Government Street.

The Drunkard holds the world's record for length of run, chalking up 9,477 consecutive performances in 26 years at the Theatre Mart in Los Angeles.

In its coffee house form, it has been boiled down by CBC playwright Raymond Hull into a six-character compact version.

Original version was written by W. H. Smith and "A Gentleman"—long suspected to be William Thackeray. It was first produced by showman P.
T. Barnum.

Starring in the coffee house version at The Secret is Jeanne Belcher, former Victoria girl now living in Vancouver.

Writer's Chores Discussed Here By Local Author

James Audain, descendant of Craigdarroch Castle builder Robin Dunsmuir, related his experiences as a writer at a meeting of the Victoria and Island branch, Canadian Authors' Association.

His books include "From Coal Mine to Castle," a history of the Dunsmuir family;
"Courage to Change," a novel portraying the problems of alcoholism; and "My Borrowed Life," recently published here by Gray's Publishing Co. Ltd.

Mr. Audain, in a Douglas Building cafeteria meeting, said his book, "From Coal Mine to Castle," has since been withdrawn from sale by mutual consent of author and publisher. It was subject of litigation.

Mrs. Clare Hill Maunsell spoke on "Imagery and Symbolism in Poetry," illustrating her theme with quotations from a wide range of poets.

T. S. Eliot's "The Hollow Men," she said is symbolic of the disillusionment following the First World War, while W. B. Yeats' "Leyda and the Swan" symbolizes the supremacies of spirit over body.

Irene Chapman Benson quoted from "The Moderns," her own satire on some of this generation's versifiers.

Pakistan, carved out of India in 1947, comprises two unequal parts, with West Pakistan separated from East Pakistan nearly 1,000 miles by land and 3,000 miles by sea.

BUT LOCAL PEKE TOP DOG

Yanks Go Home Winners

A local dog took top honors in the Vancouver Island Dog
Fanciers' Association dog show Saturday, with almost all the other awards going to "foreigners."

Kee Ting China's Toni, a pekinese owned by Mrs. Carita Grieve of Saanichton, was judged best Canadian-bred dog and best in show.

Sweethaven Knight Viktor, owned by Mrs. E. Burchett, was judged best sporting hound.
It was the only other Victoria dog to win a class.

Canterbury Named

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth today approved the appointment of the Venerable Ian Hugh White-Thomson, 59, to succeed Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury. Canon White-Thomson has been chaplain to the Queen since 1952 and was chaplain to her father, King George VI, from 1947 until his death in 1952.

Best Canadian-bred puppy in the show was a miniature poodle Allegiance of Clarabar, owned by Clarice Nott of North Vancouver.

Mrs. Ethel Webb, former secretary-treasurer of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, presented the trophies at the end of the two-day show.

Victor Perry of California, and Mrs. Gwen Donaldson of Victoria, were judges.

Winners of each class were as follows:

Sporting dogs: Erdreich's Buck v.
Gardner, Irene Pauly, Sonoma, Calif.
Sporting hounds: Sweethaven Knight
Viktor, Mrs. E. Burchett, Victoria.
Working dogs: Latham's Holiday, Mrs.
A. Latham and Donald Berlant, Portland, Ore.
Terriers: Skellig Carrington Barney,
Dean Paine, North Seattle, Wash.
Toys: Kee Ting China's Toni, Carita
Grieve, Saanichton.
Non sporting: Long's Boat's Starline, Cora Long, Okanogan, Wash.

Journalism Course

CALGARY (CP)—A two-year journalism course will be offered by Mount Royal Junior College in association with the Calgary Albertan. Dr. W.
J. Collett, college principal, has announced. Erik Watt, managing editor of the Albertan, will supervise on-the-job training.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Rocky's got Happy, Jack's got Jackie... and Nixon's got Pat. The former Vice-President brought Mrs. Nixon into the Waldorf Empire Room—his second time to catch Carol Channing in a week—and together they embraced Carol and congratulated her on her performance. Carol was very appreciative—still, not long ago she was a guest of JFK at the White House and is, expected to entertain for him again. A friend cautioned her, "Maybe you better tell Nixon to get off your side."

Irving Berlin celebrated his 75th birthday in the Catskills Saturday. The Berlins temporarily will take over a small house in Beverly Hills where he'll write more songs for "Say, It With Music." It'll have a pool, of course—it was beside a pool on a hot California day that he wrote his great cold weather song, "White Christmas."

Funniest sight of the week: Beatrice Lillie doing her "March With Me" number from Charlot's Revue (of 1924) at the Actors' Equity Golden Anniversary Show brilliantly produced by Jean Dalmely. Usually, Bea spins some beads around her neck. This time, she twirled a white collar, which wasn't hooked. It departed her neck and sailed across the stage—exactly as she'd planned it. "I was tired of the beads and so I tried this—and it worked!"

Jukebox Jolter Praised

VANCOUVER (CP)—Supreme Court Judge T. W. Brown has commended a man for attacking a jukebox that wouldn't play.

Isadore Jules Poirier was in court for sentencing for a traffic offence arising from a minor accident when Judge Brown asked for details of a malicious damage conviction on his record.

Court was told that nine years ago Poirier, a 55-year-old vacuum cleaner salesman, was fined $75 by a Nanaimo magistrate for smashing a jukebox when it wouldn't play after three quarters had been fed to it.

"You mean he attacked the machine?" asked the judge. "Yes," replied defence counsel Harold Fisher. "I consider that praise-worthy," said Judge Brown. He fined Poirier $200 or one month on the traffic charge, commenting that he had been going to impose a $250 fine.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answering each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Beatrice Hutchinson, age 13, of Trenton, Ont., for her question:

How did science learn about the ice ages?

The earth's crust is layered upon layer of rocky minerals. The oldest rocks were formed when the world was young, perhaps three billion years ago. Through the ages, layers of limestone and slabs of slate, masses of lava and other minerals were piled upon the earliest rocks. Geologists can tell what events formed and changed these crusty minerals.

Many earth scientists are still probing the secrets of the ice ages. But the fascinating study sprang from the bold imagination of one man, about 130 years ago. For 25 years he was a professor of zoology at Harvard University. By the grave of this great scholar rests a boulder—a boulder from a Swiss valley where it was left by the glaciers of ice ages.

Jean Louis Agassiz was born in a Swiss valley surrounded by the glaciers which crown the lofty Alps. His boyhood curiosity led him to study such things as rocks, fishes and fossils, and he became a great man because he never lost the wonderful curiosity of his youth. Agassiz won renown in 1829 at age 22. He had classified 1,000 fossilized fish plus other ocean animals found in the earth's crust far from the sea.

Later he became a professor of ichthyology at a Swiss university. There he gathered and classified more strange facts. He wondered about the boulders and beds of gravel in the valleys, for they did not seem to belong there. They were made from rock found high on the steep shoulders of the Alps. Agassiz used his imagination to account for these strange facts.

Studied Signs of Nature

Suppose, he argued, the world is much older than we think. In the remote past, much of Europe may have been covered by ice sheets more massive than those which still linger on the lofty peaks. He built a hut and lived out on an ice field to study the movements of glaciers. He became sure that the glacial drift of misplaced boulders and gravel in the valleys must have been carried there by vast ice fields as they advanced over the land and receded.

Agassiz's enthusiastic lectures left the world of science agog. If his theories of past ice ages were true, then the world was much older than anyone had dared to imagine.

In 1846, Agassiz came to lecture and to study the footprints of the ice age glaciers in North America. And here the great scholar spent the rest of his valuable life.

The Agassiz Museum of Zoology at Harvard was founded by the man who dared to imagine the stupendous ice ages and trace their records in the rocks of the earth's crust. The tall, handsome scholar was always ready to smile and enjoy challenging discussions with his students, with children and with those who were not experts in science. The Book of Nature, he said, is always open—and he never tired of observing the wonders of the world around him.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Karen Sue Kreutz, age 8, of Spokane, Wash., for her question:

Is there really a tree kangaroo?

The kangaroo, as everyone knows, is a famous jumper. And the place to jump, hop and leap is on the ground. But the big kangaroo has a small cousin who hops and leaps through the trees. The tree kangaroo is a furry, fellow about two feet long and with a tail which is also two feet long. During the day, he sleeps curled up in the branches and at night he comes down to eat and drink.

There are tree kangaroos in the forested regions of Queensland, Australia, and more of them in the thick jungles of New Guinea. The gentle creatures feed on cedar leaves, ferns and berries.

Today's best laugh: Kids' dialogue: "Do you say prayers before eating at your house?" "Now, my mother's a good cook."

Wish I'd said that: A fellow at Henry Stamper's had an argument with his wife about hiring a maid to help with the housework. She kept insisting he didn't need one.

Remembered quote: "Some women are married before they are 30—but few are 30 before they are married." Hugh Allen.

Earl's pearls: A local guy, putting a 50-ft. extension cord on his phone, explained: "Now that the weather's nice, I want my daughter to get out more." That's Earl, brother. (Distributed 1963 by the Hall Syndicate, Inc. All rights reserved.)

WARDEN ASKS TROOPS TO STAND BY PRISON

MONTREAL (CP)—A detachment of Canadian Army troops has been called in on a "standby basis" at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, it was announced today.

Warden Lecorre said the troops were called in as a precautionary measure and would stand by in case of trouble.

Troops Stand By in Alabama; Race Riots Follow Bombings

Kennedy Plans Weekend Visit

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP) — Advance contingent of army riot control troops began arriving today in this racially-troubled city as President Kennedy went ahead with plans to visit Alabama this weekend.

The racial situation here, in the words of Attorney-General Robert Kennedy, was "extremely sensitive and tense," but he said he expects the agreement reached last week between white and Negro leaders to endure.

He said that despite the weekend of bombings and rioting, the truce would not be broken and the racial troubles in this deep south city would be settled.

A top army staff officer, Maj. Gen. Cleighton Abrams, was here to direct the military preparations necessary to throw federal troops into action if needed.

Bombings and rioting resulted in injuries to about 50 persons Saturday night and during the pre-dawn hours of Sunday. Trouble-shooters from the department of justice, meanwhile, set up headquarters in the downtown federal building, only a few blocks from the scene of the weekend disorders.

The White House announced during the day that President Kennedy will go through with long-held plans to visit Alabama this Saturday to attend ceremonies honoring the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Life in Birmingham, however, had returned to near normal by mid-morning.

A 28-block area, sealed off after Negroes rioted Saturday night, was reopened this morning and traffic was functioning at its normal pace.

The Southern Christian Leadership Council said Jackie Robinson, first Negro to compete in major league baseball, and former heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson will fly here tonight.

The Birmingham police department said everything was quiet in the steel city this morning. No outward incidents were reported overnight although more than a thousand city and special police officers held part of the city under virtual martial law.

President Kennedy sent army troops to two Alabama bases with a grim warning that they would move into Birmingham, if new violence erupts. Thousands of Negroes rioted early Sunday after bombs blasted a Negro minister's home and a motel.

Governor Challenges President

Governor George C. Wallace, arch-segregationist who once defied federal authorities over voter registration records, challenged the president's right to send in federal troops. He insisted state and local officers can preserve law and order.

City officials and Negro leaders issued strong appeals for law and order.

Helmeted state troopers, city policemen and officers from numerous surrounding counties and towns patrolled the cordoned area in shifts today.

About 50 persons, including police officers, were injured in the rioting.

The president's action was three-pronged:

1. Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara was ordered to alert riot-trained army units and to deploy them in Alabama.

2. Preliminary steps were taken for bringing under federal control the Alabama National Guard. The papers have not been signed.

3. Assistant Attorney-General Burke Marshall was sent back to Birmingham to consult with citizens and work with other justice department officials.

In other developments: Shortly before Kennedy spoke, rifle bullets ripped into the home of two Negroes and a Negro church at Anniston, Ala.—where some of the troops were sent.

WAIT OTTAWA MOVE

B.C. Cautious On Columbia

Cautious optimism about action on the long-stalled Columbia River power development was aired today by B.C. government spokesmen.

Officials are waiting for a promised approach from the federal government following the meeting of Prime Minister Lester Pearson and President Kennedy last week.

Mr. Pearson said in Ottawa afterwards that he told the president he wants some "adjustments and clarifications" in the Columbia treaty, signed in 1961, but not yet ratified by the Canadian parliament.

At the same time, however, he reaffirmed his government's plan to give the 26th Parliament, which opens Thursday, an opportunity to debate defence policy before any final agreement is signed with the United States to acquire nuclear warheads.

Mr. Pearson did not disclose the nature of the adjustments. "I have no idea what he was talking about," commented B.C. Water Resources Minister Ray Williston.

However, he said, one of the things that will "have to be" included in renewed negotiations is an agreement to sell Canada's share of downstream benefits to the U.S.

There is no change in B.C. policy on this, Mr. Williston said.

The provincial government wants to sell the benefits for enough money to build three dams on the Columbia in B.C. and allow foreign ships to haul Oregon lumber to East Coast ports.

NUCLEAR ARMS DECISION FOR EXECUTIVE

At the same time, however, he reaffirmed his government's plan to give the 26th Parliament, which opens Thursday, an opportunity to debate defence policy before any final agreement is signed with the United States to acquire nuclear warheads.

'Can't Continue'

LONDON (Reuters)—Aviation Minister Julian Amery said tonight the current situation in the dispute over air fares with the United States is "unaccountable and cannot be allowed to continue." (See page 3.)

CALGARY (CP)—Two aircraft today joined more than 100 RCMP officers, soldiers and inmates from Spy Hill jail in the search for five-year-old Glen Morgan, Calgary. The boy wandered from his parents Sunday during a fishing trip.

'Won't Intervene'

REGINA (CP)—Martin Kellin of Regina, national president of the Social Credit League, said today the national party organization does not intend to intervene in the problems of its Quebec wing.

Mr. Kellin said a resignation and expulsion that took place in Quebec at the weekend were "provincial matters."

QUEBEC (CP)—Real Caouette said Sunday night

six Social Credit members threw their support to a minority Liberal government last month to check another move within the party to maintain a Diefenbaker government.

Mr. Caouette, deputy Social Credit leader, said cabinet posts in a Conservative government had been promised to two of the three Social Credit members involved in negotiating the attempted alliance. He did not say whether the three Social Crediters were negotiating on their own behalf or on behalf of the party.

He also said Stanley Knowles had been assured he would be Speaker of the Commons in return for Social Credit's New Democratic Party support.

Mr. Caouette said the six Social Crediters made their surprise move only 20 minutes before NDP Leader T. C. Douglas was to confirm by telephone an alliance between the two minority parties to support the Conservatives. He didn't say whether Mr. Douglas made the call.

LEAVES THE PARTY

He said Dr. Guy Marcoux, Social Credit party whip and member for Quebec Montmorency, was one of the negotiators of the attempted alliance. Dr. Marcoux announced Saturday he has quit the Social Credit

'WANTS MEN TO LICK HIS HANDS'

QUEBEC (CP)—Fernand Ouellet, expelled from Le Ralliement des Creditistes for what was described as "clandestine activity," said Sunday night he is glad to be out of politics. Mr. Ouellet brushed off criticism by Deputy Social Credit Leader Real Caouette.

"Caouette only wants servants around him who will lick his hands," Mr. Ouellet said in an interview. "All I said out loud was what most people thought underneath."

Mr. Ouellet said Mr. Caouette's next step will be "to go after the head of Mr. Thompson (national leader Robert Thompson)." He did not elaborate.

'Hallucinations' Replies NDP Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, said today Real Caouette "is suffering from hallucinations" when he says that the NDP and the Social Credit party were considering an alliance.

"Mr. Caouette's statement that I or anyone on my behalf had any discussions with the Social Credit party or any other political party either before, during or after the election is completely untrue and without any foundation in fact," said Mr. Douglas in a prepared statement.

Said Mr. Douglas: "It is apparent that Mr. Caouette finds himself in some difficulty over the haywire negotiations that were conducted by some of the Social Credit members with respect to supporting a Liberal government. Consequently, he now is seeking to find a scapegoat."

"I can only conclude that Mr. Caouette is suffering from hallucinations and I suggest that he come up with some more plausible explanation — preferably the truth."

Prime Minister Pearson told reporters prior to a cabinet meeting that he had "no comment whatever" on the matter.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's office also had a terse "no comment" when asked about the alleged alliance.

Love Potion for Police Dogs 'Not Cricket'

LONDON (AP)—Police today accused ban-the-bomb demonstrators of using a love potion to outwit police dogs.

"It's not playing the game," said a police spokesman. "It's more or less tantamount to putting marbles under horses' feet. It just shows how low some people will go."

Peter Cadogan, secretary of the Committee of 100, replied: "The use of dogs against us is a filthy trick and a damned insult. I admit we used aniseed buns. All that happens is that the dogs lick the aniseed and get very affectionate."

The committee is a militant organization that frequently demonstrates against nuclear weapons. It wants Britain to destroy all nuclear devices.

"It's a very sensible tactic against dogs," Cadogan continued. "Aniseed is a love potion. The use of it saves trouble to the dogs and the demonstrators."

Police said the demonstrators used buns soaked in aniseed during a demonstration over the weekend near the RAF's V-bomber station in County Norfolk.

In a clash with the police and dogs, 80 demonstrators were arrested—but no one reported being bitten by a dog.

"We had 30 to 35 dogs on duty," said the police spokesman.

Police and RAF security officers also clashed with a crowd of "ban-the-bombers" Saturday who tried to claim an air base at Harham after buying it lock, stock and missiles at a mock auction.

Before the demonstrators gave up and went to a local tavern, about a dozen were arrested.

The clash came after the group led by the Committee of 100 held their auction in the nearby quiet market town of Swaffham.

The RAF bomber base was sold piece by piece—with planes worth hundreds of thousands of pounds going for £1 ($3) each. Buyers were given bills of sale to stick on their purchases at the base to claim them "for peaceful purposes."

The demonstrators then went to the base where entry is rigidly restricted under Britain's Official Secrets Act and were greeted by lines of police.

The demonstrators came in waves trying to break the cordon. At one point they threw one of their number over the base fence. He was thrown back. For a while he was passed back and forth like a tennis ball.

In court, the ban-the-bombers boomed throughout the hearing at which four persons were released on bail and seven others remained.

It says "ban-the-bomb" enthusiasts are pinpointing service offices in their "spies for peace" campaign to publicize demands for nuclear disarmament.

The paper suggests foreign agents might be involved.

In one case, unknown callers tied up 40 lines into two military intelligence units for eight hours, blocking incoming calls and interfering with outgoing communications, the paper says.

At an intelligence headquarters hidden in a rural area, disarmers forced their way into a building during office hours and photographed staff members before being thrown out. The Guardian adds.

Weather Threatens Flight

By GEOFFREY COULD

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Predicted heavy clouds in the launch area posed a threat today to astronaut Gordon Cooper's space flight.

Project Mercury officials said preparations were continuing for a launching Tuesday morning.

If conditions are favorable, an Atlas rocket is scheduled to blast off between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. EDT (6 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. PDT) to start Cooper on a 22-orbit flight lasting more than 24 hours. This would be the longest manned space flight yet attempted by the United States.

As the scheduled liftoff time neared, Cooper ran through a brief simulated countdown and launching in a trainer at Mercury control center. He again reviewed the flight plan and star charts and scheduled a final mission review with all key officials late in the day.

"I'm ready," he said. "All we have to do now is load, launch and launch."

A vast recovery network of ships and planes was spread out around the globe—the greatest to stop the flight before 22 orbits are completed. If it goes the 600,000-mile route, Cooper will land in the Pacific Wednesday near Midway Island.

A final medical checkout late Sunday was "go."

Records Topped Again

By GARY COOPER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Selective buying remained the dominant factor on Canadian stock markets and records on the Toronto market were topped again last week.

Increased buying interest stemmed mainly from reduced bank rates announced by the Bank of Canada early in the week. The reduction in borrowing costs helped Toronto industrialists to another all-time high, pushing them well over the 646-point mark, about 17 points above the top of 629.06 set in March, 1962.

Whether the recent upward trend can be maintained still remains a question among brokers.

Paul Henry of R. A. Daly and Company said the market could go either way.

"The market appears to be equally capable of a severe correction, and/or a continued move to new highs. It depends how you look at it."

RISE AND FALL

In Toronto, most sessions showed a record high in industrial at some point during the day—usually around noon—and a slight fall-off later in the session.

The industrial index—a compilation of 20 representative stocks—was ahead about four points from May 3 to an all-time high of 646.83 on Thursday but closed Friday at 643.84, a gain of only 1.86 for the week.

Banks, with most issues touching new peaks during the five-day trading period, set the general trend and most main list groups followed the lead.

Algoma Steel and Dominion Bridge, recently linked in takeover rumors, were among the more active issues that posted gains on the week. A denial by Dominion Bridge that the company had any knowledge of a pending takeover offer, temporarily ended rumors in that area.

International Nickel, Consolidated Mining and Smelters and Noranda led senior base metals narrowly higher on the week and speculative stocks held the spotlight.

HEAVY TURNOVER

Purdex was the most active in the group with a turnover of more than 4,000,000 shares and showed a substantial gain on the week as well.

Northcal was again the most active among western oils but had a loss of four cents on the week. Pacific Petroleum, after recently being placed on the industrial board, also showed heavy volume and moved to a new 1963 high of 15 at mid-afternoon Friday. The stock closed well ahead on the week.

KLM Reports Huge Loss; To Cut Fleet

THE HAGUE (AP)—KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, had disclosed a big first-quarter loss and announced plans to reduce its fleet and personnel.

Board Chairman Frans den Hollander told reporters Thursday the airline will reduce its fleet by half within two years. The company reported net loss of $10,600,000 on operating revenue of $31,300,000 in the quarter, down from $34,200,000 in the first three months of 1962. The net loss in the first quarter last year was $11,200,000.

After streamlining, the KLM fleet will include 16 DC-8 jet airliners for intercontinental lines and 40 Lockheed Electras and Vickers Viscounts for Europe. Staff will be cut by 2,000 by halting recruitment and by "suggesting staff to resign," said den Hollander.

KLM will sell nine DC7Cs, six DC6s, eight DC3s, two Lockheed 1049-Hs and 10 Con-vaire 340s.

$354 Millions By Warrant

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Liberal government has received authorization under a special Governor-General's warrant to tap the treasury for $354,416,247 to meet its May bills.

The special warrant was the fourth issued on cabinet order by Governor-General Vanier since the last Parliament was dissolved Feb. 6. It was published Friday in the official Canada Gazette.

It raises to $1,256,702,635 the amount of government expenditures covered by the four special warrants all issued because Parliament dissolved without the government having received approval for expenditures either in the last fiscal year ended March 31 or the new year that began April 1.

Like the earlier ones, the new warrant covers routine expenditures, with one exception: A $30,000,000 loan to the unemployment insurance fund.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Companies Should Give Shareholders a 'Break'

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

To increase public interest in common stock investment Canadian corporations should be more aware of their responsibilities to their shareholders.

Howard D. Graham, who was re-elected president of the Toronto Stock Exchange, this week said in his annual review.

He urged corporations to provide full and complete information wherever practicable on operations and management policies through interim or quarterly and annual reports.

Gen. Graham thus adds another voice to what is rapidly becoming a chorus of complaints about the rather poor shake many Canadian investors still get from a number of companies.

Consider, for instance, the fact that out of about 900 companies sufficiently seasoned to obtain listing on the Toronto board, only 230 about 25 per cent of the total—provide quarterly or even semi-annual reports.

Out of 150 of the largest Canadian corporations issuing public reports, about 50 still do not disclose figures on sales.

Ostensibly, refusal to disclose sales figures is to avoid giving useful information to opposition companies.

But, as has been pointed out time and time again, nearly all companies, by the use of the most rudimentary industrial spying tactics, can usually figure out to within a few dollars what the competition's sales have been for any period of time.

The only person who is hampered by failure to publish sales figures is the shareholder, or potential investor, who loses one of the most useful gauges of the effectiveness of a company.

MORE SERIOUS

Even more serious than the too infrequent or inadequate reporting methods still followed by many Canadian companies are the downright deceptions which are practiced for the purpose of making the financial picture look brighter than it really is.

Investment counsellor Stephen A. Jarislowsky of Montreal, a frequent critic of poor company reports, wrote recently that too often company statements are "distortions of what the shareholders should be told."

He charges that "reports are frequently slanted to agree with the objectives of management or controlling shareholders. This is seldom in the interest of the public shareholders."

$45-Million Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Revenue Minister Garland, continuing the policy of seeking to build up a secondary market for National Housing Act mortgages, announced Friday that another $45,000,000 in Crown-held mortgages are being put up for sale.

Investment dealers and approved NHA lenders are being invited to submit tenders to buy the mortgages from the government's housing agency, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

One of Mr. Jarislowsky's chief criticisms is directed to the practice of lumping recurring and non-recurring net income together, thus obscuring the real earning power of a company.

He suggests that capital gains on sales of fixed assets, non-recurring reserve adjustments, major changes in contingency reserves, accelerated depreciation leading to major tax deferrals, exchange profit on earnings of foreign subsidiaries, and similar items should all be directly charged to the surplus account rather than treated as part of the annual net profit.

Among "distortions" pointed out by Mr. Jarislowsky include: Labatt brewery taking a stock dividend paid by a subsidiary into the accounts as part of the year's profits when the item had no real value since the interest in the subsidiary did not change;

Dominion Bridge treating part of the proceeds of the sale of Dominion Engineering to Canadian General Electric as profit when it was a capital gain of a non-recurring nature.

According to Mr. Jarislowsky's analysis, Inland Cement really earned only 90 cents a share last year rather than the $1.91 a share shown in the report, and Dominion Bridge, which reported a profit of 66 cents a share really had a substantial loss.

In the case of Inland Cement, tax savings due to accelerated depreciation were shown as profit, even though the taxes will have to be paid in later years and the money should properly have gone into a reserve fund.

"The Dominion Bridge case is even more blatant," Mr. Jarislowsky declares.

The company showed net income of $1.7 million or 66 cents per share. A reserve of $500,000 was written back into net income; $1 million of profit on fixed assets and securities was taken into earnings and an arbitrary $1.2 million from the sale of Dominion Engineering was added into net income.

If these items were subtracted, the analyst says, as they should be because none are recurring, the company would have shown a loss of about $1 million on the year's operations.

"The number of companies in Canada which 'adjust' earnings in the above fashion is very large," Mr. Jarislowsky claims. "There is nothing illegal about it and all the statements carry certificates of accounting profession members."

Mr. Jarislowsky believes the accounting profession should give this matter serious attention since the profession is placed in the position of being the shareholders' "watchdog."

"The first thing an investor asks is: 'What does the company earn?' and I believe he has the right to get a correct answer. . . . Exaggerated or understated earnings lead to market excesses and do considerable harm to the investor," he declares.

Oil Production in Alberta Higher for Week

CALGARY (CP)—Crude oil production in Alberta averaged 386,959 barrels a day during the week ended May 6, the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board reported Saturday.

The daily average production for the week ended April 29 was 366,965 barrels. The maximum daily allowable production for May is 421,737 barrels and the daily average production during May, 1962, was 443,355 barrels.

Major producing fields (figures in barrels a day): Pembina 102,394, Redwater 38,839, Swan Hills 35,757, Leduc-Woodbend 31,129, Bonnie Glenn 16,537, Judy Creek 15,789, Fenn-

BIRDS OF A FEATHER may flock together but at the Victoria Exhibition the opposite is true. Birds of many different feathers stand side by side. George Christensen is holding this cocky Silver Spangled Hamburg who is obviously very proud of his well-groomed tail.

ONE CLOGGED WATER JET can spoil the show, so each morning before the "Dancing Waters" opens to the public each of the 4,000 and some jets are inspected. Pete Ramsay wades about in rubber boots making sure that a piece of dirt isn't going to ruin the show.

APPROXIMATELY 170 RABBITS with coats all brushed and spotless, arrived in crates at the Victoria Exhibition this morning. Among the largest is this Giant Flemish as he towers over the black nosed Californian. Keeping an eye on both is Ross Gillespie.

MIDWAY CARNIES worked feverishly over the weekend preparing for opening day, but for some it was too much. Sylvia Caron curls up in a Tilt-a-Wheel chair to take time out for a short nap in the warm sunshine. (Times photos by Bill Halkett.)

Jaycees Shooting for 100,000-Plus at Week-Long Exhibition

BY MARG GILROY

Today is the day many kiddies have been waiting for since this time last year — opening day of the Victoria Exhibition.

Jaycees are hopeful of topping a previous record crowd of 100,000 if weather remains favorable until final day on Saturday.

The midway is bigger and better and there are many more and new exhibits.

Among the highlights of the exhibits will be a closed television circuit and the educational television, sponsored by the B.C. Telephone Company and a 15-foot look-out tower erected by the Department of Forests.

On Sunday the last of the entertainers arrived in town — Jimmy Rodgers with the Fairmont singers and Tippy and Cobina, stars of a chimpanzee act. Also with the show is Emcee juggler, Tommy Blecker. There will be two shows daily in the Memorial Arena starting at 3:30 and 10 p.m.

Other participants in the fair, who do not qualify as entertainers but provide plenty of amusement, started to arrive on Sunday and were still arriving early this morning. They are cattle, rabbits and poultry.

There will be approximately 170 rabbit entries in all, including about 15 different breeds. Among the largest are the pink-eyed Giant Flemish who reach as much as 25 pounds when mature. In the poultry division a well groomed Plymouth Rock rooster was growing at the honor of being selected as a prize bird to represent his class. Nearby was a black Wyndott having its toes inspected for cleanliness.

Rosecombs, Millefeurs and Silver Spangled Hamburgs are just a few more of the 30 breeds represented in the 75 poultry entries. Judging of poultry and rabbits will continue today and Tuesday.

Cattle were slower in taking up their position at the fair but judging of the Ayrshire cattle took place this afternoon at 1:30.

On the midway large cartons of teddy bears were being unpacked ready for the winners of the games of chance.

Fences and box office were being set up in front of the many rides that went into operation this afternoon. Oil cans were flying and motors being checked to ensure a week of smooth operation.

In the arena and the curling rink, trucks, cars and packing cases filled every available corner. Only one or two stalls remain vacant for would-be exhibitors.

Other attractions today, and every day, at 3 and 10:45 p.m. are the Enchanters with a Hawaiian Revue on the Curling Rink stage.

In the agricultural show ring will be Michael Williams with a gun dog and sheep dog working demonstration daily.

Tonight at 7:30 there will be the Miss Victoria pageant and fashion show on the arena stage. Commentator will be Helen Belness. Tonight's contestants will be Miss Marjorie Elrose, playing an accordion solo and Miss Linden Louis, dancing a ballet.

Miss Synnove Pettersen will officially open the exhibition tonight in the arena immediately before the second Jimmie Rodgers show starts at 10.

Weekly passes are available for $1.25, entitling the holder to participate in the nightly draws for prizes worth at least $500. Draws will be made nightly at 11.

Saturday the final prize winner will be the owner of a 1963 Ford Galaxie sedan.

On the north side of the curling rink there will be nightly dancing from 9 to 11, to the music of the Pharaohs.

ANOTHER SUGAR PRICE INCREASE BY WEEKEND

Another retail sugar price increase, amounting to three or four cents on a 10-pound bag, is expected to hit Victoria by next weekend, local retailers confirmed today.

Cost of 10 pounds of sugar is likely to be between $1.66 and $1.68 compared to $1.53 a week ago.

The retail boost follows four refinery price increases since the beginning of last week due to the current world

Prices have doubled since last October. Local retailers say that some further increases in "sugar-related" products such as jams, canned fruits, candy, biscuits and other confections can be expected soon.

Topics of the Day

Youngsters with BB guns gave Saanich police trouble Sunday evening.

But the irate father of two of them made sure they won't cause any more trouble with their air guns.

A motorist who car was parked outside 5529 Alderly Road discovered a hole had been shot through the window. Police surmise it was caused by a BB pellet.

Less than an hour later they received complaints of youngsters with BB guns in the 1200 block Pearce Crescent. Police caught several juveniles and took them home to their parents.

Says the police report on the incident: the father "took the situation well in hand by breaking the BB gun over his knee."

Burnside PTA will meet this evening at 7:45 in the school auditorium. Program will include a gymnastic display and folk dancing by a group of the students.

The Intimate Stage theatre group will meet tonight at 8 in the Victoria College theatre hut on the Gordon Head campus.

Plans for the summer's dramatic productions will be discussed.

Three Horsemen Raid Chilliwack Contest Events

Three local riders came home today loaded with over $100 in prize money and ribbons won at the Chilliwack Riding Club horse show Saturday and Sunday.

Merle and Duncan Rimmer and Derk Albers between them won 10 first prizes, seven seconds and four thirds in the 16 events.

There were about 70 competitors from all over the province taking place in the two day western riding competition, which included pony express, Gretna Green and stake races.

A pedestrian is in fairly good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today after receiving a broken arm in an accident at Pandora and Cook Saturday.

D. H. Thomas, 1242 Fort, was crossing the street when he was in collision with a car driven by John Remyk, 1319 Fernwood, police reported.

Three sailors were each fined $75 when they pleaded guilty to theft of a doctor's bag and contents valued over $50.

Douglas Allen, George Alish and Roy Steiger, all with good service records, said they had been drinking at the time of the incident.

Oak Bay police said the contents of the bag were intact when it was recovered from bushes where it had been thrown. There was no suggestion that the bag had been stolen for the drugs it contained.

Keith Mullaly, 20, of 723 Yates, who last week was sentenced to two years less a day in Oakalla jail, received a two-year sentence Saturday in Sooke RCMP court on another charge of breaking and entering.

The terms will be served concurrently. But now Mullaly will have to go to the B.C. penitentiary to serve his terms instead of Oakalla.

The charge in Sooke concerned a break-in Nov. 13 at Kane's garage in Sooke. The sentence last week was for three charges of breaking and entering in the Sooke area between Jan. 30 and 31.

Oak Bay council will hold a special meeting at 7:30 tonight to give final readings to its 1963 budget and tax bylaws, setting the mill rate at 44.5, an increase of four mills over last year.

Inmate Flees Open-Door Prison Here

A prisoner with less than a year to serve of a three-year sentence for attempted rape walked out of William Head minimum security prison Sunday.

Steve Detchuk, 45, was recaptured by prison guards seven hours after he was reported missing at supper time. He was discovered on a road about two miles from the fenceless prison.

RCMP said he put up no resistance. He was still wearing prison garb when captured.

Price War Fear Behind Order On Chicken Sale

Prevention of a price war was the reason the B.C. Broiler Marketing Board prevented Oakcrest Foodliner owner Henry Eng from selling chickens at 29 cents a pound, board chairman Robert Blair said Sunday.

Mr. Eng says he has sold nearly 4,000 of the birds since board officials seized some of them Thursday afternoon and stopped him selling them at less than cost price.

"We don't set a floor price," said Mr. Blair, "we don't have any more restrictions than to say retailers cannot sell for less than they pay for chickens."

Price of the chickens was boosted to 39 cents a pound after the board "raid." About 800 had been sold at the low price before the board stepped in.

Increase in price would bring it up barely to cost. No decision has been made about charging Mr. Eng, said Mr. Blair.

Below-cost selling brought the board into existence in January, 1962, after it was claimed that 19 chicken producers and two processing plants had been forced into bankruptcy.

Freak Explosion Injures Fireman

Assistant city fire chief William J. Wiggs suffered severe burns to the hands and face Saturday afternoon when a quantity of fine sawdust from a floor-sanding machine exploded in a cardboard carton.

The sawdust was alight when Mr. Wiggs picked up the carton to move it away from a new apartment block under construction at 936 Collinson, near Vancouver Street.

FLAMES SHOT UP

"It was like gunpowder going off," he said. "The moment I lifted the carton the air got in underneath and the flames shot up in my face with a kind of 'whoosh'."

"They burned my hands and face and the pain was so intense I flung the carton away from me. At first I thought my uniform was alight but fortunately this was not so."

City firemen extinguished the flames while Mr. Wiggs was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment. He returned to his home at 429 Springfield Road two hours later with his hands badly blistered and heavily bandaged.

The fire brigade was called to 936 Collinson at around 4:30 p.m. Saturday when a passerby noticed a number of burning cartons in a lot behind the new apartment building.

All of them contained sawdust which had been discarded after use in the building.

DANGEROUS SPOT

"One of them was dangerously close to the new building so I went to move it while No. 1 fire truck went to work on the others."

"The base of the carton I picked up must have been burned through, so that the air rushed up through it causing the sawdust to explode."

In all of his 34 years' service with Victoria fire brigade, Mr. Wiggs cannot recall this type of accident before.

"I've had burns all right," he said, "but never from picking up a carton."

Fire Chief John Abbott said the sawdust from the floor sanding machine should have been disposed of before workmen left the new apartment block Friday evening.

"It should never have been left around like that," he said.

Huge Development For Harbor Front

West Bay Project Imminent

A huge, multi-million-dollar residential and commercial complex is planned for West Bay along north side of Victoria harbor.

The plans — including three high rise apartment buildings, a full-scale marina and associated developments — are to be revealed in detail Tuesday by the promoters.

A number of officials and community leaders have been invited to a reception at the Union Club to hear the plans. Those contacted by The Times kept mum but other sources sketched in the broad outlines of the scheme today.

A land assembly operation will consolidate several Victoria West acres between Maitland and Barnard, south of Esquimalt Road, barely inside the city boundary.

NEAR RCMP PROPERTY

The development will be next to a block of property purchased some time ago by the RCMP right on the Victoria-Esquimalt boundary for its proposed new provincial headquarters with marine facilities.

At least three 12-storey high-rise apartments are planned to overlook the harbor area and give a view of the strait and Olympic Mountains.

A large marina would be established at the water's edge.

There also are rumors that some other commercial developments would be included to round out the scheme.

The high-rise buildings would complement similar developments now adorning the James Bay side of the harbor.

If the developers believed to be a Victoria-Vancouver syndicate go ahead, this would give the Inner Harbor "horseshoe" a tourist-government centre at the Causeway with modern tall apartment buildings on each wing.

PLANNERS APPROVE

The West Bay area was one of several recommended by the Capital Region Planning Board recently for high rise development.

To top it off, the "three angry housewives" approve of the plan.

When told about it, Mrs. Shirley Dowell, 3270 Upper Terrace Road, said:

"We feel this is a good thing because it will upgrade a low-grade area while leaving good single family residential areas."

"It would fit in with the Capital Region Planning Board's recommendations and could be easily included in a community master plan for which we are campaigning."

Mrs. Dowell and two other housewives have won considerable publicity for their fight against helter-skelter high-rise zoning.

Commissionaire's Labor Law Charges Bring Corps Meeting

Local commissionaires have been ordered to attend a meeting Wednesday as a result of charges that the corps is violating provincial labor laws, it was learned today.

Honorary commandant of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires here, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, has issued the summons to a "shift" meeting in Esquimalt Sports Centre at 1 and 6 p.m.

However, he denied that the meeting was called as a result of recent criticism by a former commissionaire that the Corps was operating a "little Siberia" at a Colwood naval supply depot.

Meanwhile, it was reported, the corps has reduced overtime for commissionaires and has increased the number of relief men at the Colwood detachment from one to three.

Violation of labor laws by the corps was one of the abuses claimed by Robert Quinn, 65, of 4831 West Saanich, in a Times interview Friday.

Claimed Men Spied Upon at Work

Mr. Quinn, a former corporal commissionaire, also said officers and NCOs were arrogant and dictatorial, "spied" on commissionaires on duty, and carried favor with high-ranking naval officers.

"This is the first time in the history of the corps, so long as I can remember, that a meeting of the men has been called," he said today.

Mr. Wurtele said he had called the meeting to discuss "the matter of provincial labor laws."

Mr. Sands said today:

"As far as I know the corps was not deliberately violating provincial labor laws."

"There were instances where the Hours of Work Act was being violated, but I understand this is being taken care of by a re-arrangement of shifts," he explained.

Wurtele said in answer to Mr. Quinn's complaint that commissionaires are forbidden to fraternize with naval personnel and civilian workers, "It would be difficult to search cars and hand out parking violation cards to people with whom you are fraternizing."

"In the past nearly all directives have come from the federal government," he said, "and I was totally unaware that any provincial laws were being violated."

Mr. Wurtele, who took over as honorary commandant in August, 1962, said he had been notified by deputy labor minister William Sands that the corps was not complying "about two or three weeks ago."

"We called this meeting to look into it," he said, "but I am sure that is not the case."

"Mr. Quinn, during his army career, I am sure, made rounds of sentry posts on many occasions. This is not spying, it is making sure that the guard is well and alert at all times and is understood by all servicemen," he said.

"What was not said in this accusation was that the corps is a non-profit employment agency. It is not the employer in the accepted sense; the employers are the department of national defence and other government departments, civic authorities, business institutions and private individuals," he added.

'HIT THEM BEFORE THEY HIT US' IS PARKS CHIEF'S APPEAL

Call to Arms . . . Caterpillars on the March!

A massive pre-emptive strike by all Greater Victoria gardeners against tent caterpillars was urged by city parks administrator W. H. Warren today.

"There is a terrific invasion of tent caterpillars in the making," he warned.

The only solution is to hit them before they hit us, he indicated.

Hundreds of thousands of the furry, orange creatures will leave their nests in the next few weeks as the weather warms up.

Right now they are in their most vulnerable stage — a hundred or more grubs in each silky white "tent" — about the size of a fist — wrapped around tree branches.

"Right now they are concentrated and relatively easy to kill," said Mr. Warren. "The nests should be sprayed with DDT. The branches should not be cut down or burned because that causes unnecessary injury to the tree."

"But the spraying should be carefully done — directly on the nests and not on any fruit blossoms because DDT will also kill bees."

Mr. Warren said his department is busy spraying boulevard trees now.

He said this year will be the peak of the caterpillars' regular seven-year cycle.

Dominican Troops Quit Border Area

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—Dominican troops, armor and warplanes are being pulled back from the border with Haiti apparently to ease tension, it was reported here today.

Defence ministry sources attributed the withdrawal to strong diplomatic pressure from abroad and opposition at home. There was also some suspicion it might be a preliminary move to opening the path into Haiti for a "liberation force."

Bomber Crash-Lands in Carrier Net

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A 20-ton Sky Warrior supersonic jet bomber crash-landed safely into a nylon net aboard the United States aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea at the mouth of Sydney harbor today. The three U.S. crew members who flew the bomber from Richmond Air Base in New South Wales were shaken up by the accident, but all escaped injury.

Powerful Titan Test-Fired in Calif.

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A huge Titan II intercontinental missile blasted out of an armored hole in the ground today and thundered over the Pacific missile range in a research and development shot. It was the third test here of the second generation of the liquid-fueled Titan, most powerful of this country's long-range missiles.

Motorboat Saves Crew After Sinking

Warden Gets Troops as Precaution

MONTREAL (UPI)—A detachment of the tough "Van Doo" infantry regiment moved into St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary today in what the warden of the riot-torn federal prison called a "precautionary measure."

The move followed a request from Warden Michel LeCorre to the federal penitentiaries department for assistance. The request was passed on to the department of national defence in Ottawa, which ordered in the troops.

Caouette Charges Plot, Counterplot

QUEBEC (CP)—Real Caouette said Sunday night six Social Credit members threw their support to a minority Liberal government last month to check another move within the party to maintain a Diefenbaker government.

Mr. Caouette, deputy Social Credit leader, said cabinet posts in a Conservative government had been promised to two of the three Social Credit members involved in negotiating the attempted alliance. He did not say whether the three Social Crediters were negotiating on their own behalf or on behalf of the party.

He also said Stanley Knowles had been assured he would be Speaker of the Commons in return for Social Credit - New Democratic Party support. Mr. Knowles is NDP member of Parliament for Winnipeg North Centre.

Mr. Caouette said the six Social Crediters made their surprise move only 20 minutes before NDP Leader T. C. Douglas was to confirm by telephone an alliance between the two minority parties to support the Conservatives. He didn't say whether Mr. Douglas made the call.

LEAVES THE PARTY

He said Dr. Guy Marcoux, Social Credit party whip and member for Quebec Montmorency, was one of the negotiators of the attempted alliance. Dr. Marcoux announced Saturday he has quit the Social Credit party and will sit in Parliament as an "Independent Social Credit."

Dr. Marcoux said he still believes in Social Credit and added he is still on good terms with national leader Robert Thompson. The Quebec wing of

B.C. Cautious
On Columbia

Cautious optimism about action on the long-stalled Columbia River power development was aired today by B.C. government spokesmen.

Officials are waiting for a promised approach from the federal government following the meeting of Prime Minister Lester Pearson and President Kennedy last week.

Mr. Pearson said in Ottawa afterwards that he told the president he wants some "adjustments and clarifications" in the Columbia treaty, signed in 1961, but not yet ratified by the Canadian parliament.

UNKNOWN CHANGES

Mr. Pearson did not disclose the nature of the adjustments. "I have no idea what he was talking about," commented B.C. Water Resources Minister Ray Williston.

However, he said, one of the things that will "have to be" included in renewed negotiations is an agreement to sell Canada's share of downstream benefits to the U.S.

There is no change in B.C. policy, on this, Mr. Williston said.

Sky-High Operation
Failure

NEW YORK (AP)—In a speeding jet airplane high over the Atlantic Saturday, a leading Stockholm surgeon and a stewardess fought a desperate, losing battle to save a stricken co-pilot's life.

With blankets shielding the scene from first-class passengers and using a knife from the plane's galley, the pair performed an emergency operation.

Then, assisted by other crew members, they gave the co-pilot oxygen and externally massaged his heart as the swift jet raced the clock.

Most of the 87 passengers were not fully aware of the drama in flight, the stewardess said.

Geraldo Segala, 29, the stricken second officer of Varig Airlines Flight 854 from Buenos Aires to New York, still was breathing, but unconscious when taken from the plane at Idlewild Airport. He died before reaching hospital.

Determination of the cause of death awaited an autopsy. Yvonne Stapfer, 32, the chief stewardess, assisted Dr. Clarence Crafoord in the operation. Crafoord is a professor of chest surgery at Karolinska Hospital in Stockholm.

'Wants Men
To Lick
His Hands'

QUEBEC (CP)—Fernand Ouellet, expelled from Le Ralliement des Creditistes for what was described as "clandestine activity," said Sunday night he is glad to be out of politics. Mr. Ouellet brushed off criticism by Deputy Social Credit Leader Real Caouette.

"Caouette only wants servants around who will lick his hands," Mr. Ouellet said in an interview. "All I said out loud was what most people thought underneath."

Mr. Ouellet said Mr. Caouette's next step will be to go after the head of Mr. Thompson (national leader Robert Thompson). He did not elaborate.

Lumber Quotas Asked

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—The Oregon Senate voted unanimously today to ask Congress to come to the rescue of Oregon's lumber industry by imposing import quotas on Canadian lumber and allowing foreign ships to haul Oregon lumber to East Coast ports.

NUCLEAR ARMS
FOR EXECUTIVE

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said today the acquisition of nuclear weapons for Canada's armed forces was "a matter for the executive to decide."

At the same time, however, he reaffirmed his government's plan to give the 26th Parliament, which opens Thursday, an opportunity to debate defence policy before any final agreement is signed with the United States to acquire nuclear warheads.

Weather
Threatens Flight

By GEOFFREY COULD

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Predicted heavy clouds in the launch area posed a threat today to astronaut Gordon Cooper's space flight. But Project Mercury officials said preparations were continuing for a launching Tuesday morning.

If conditions are favorable, an Atlas rocket is scheduled to blast off between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. EDT (6 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. PDT) to start Cooper on a 22-orbit flight, lasting more than 34 hours. This would be the longest manned space flight yet attempted by the United States.

As the scheduled liftoff time neared, Cooper ran through a brief simulated countdown and launching in a trainer at Mercury control center. He again reviewed the flight plan and star charts and scheduled a final mission review with all key officials late in the day.

"I'm ready," he said. "All we have to do now is load, launch and launch."

A vast recovery network of ships and planes was spread out around the globe, the greatest to stop the flight before 22 orbits are completed. If it goes the 600,000-mile route, Cooper will land in the Pacific Wednesday near Midway Island.

A final medical checkout late Sunday was "go."

Love Potion for Police Dogs 'Not Cricket'

LONDON (AP)—Police today accused ban-the-bomb demonstrators of using a love potion to outwit police dogs.

"It's not playing the game," said a police spokesman. It's more or less tantamount to putting marbles under horses' feet. It just shows how low some people will go."

Peter Cadogan, secretary of the Committee of 100, replied: "The use of dogs against us is a filthy trick and a damned insult. I admit we used aniseed buns. All that happens is that the dogs lick the aniseed and get very affectionate."

The committee is a militant organization that frequently demonstrates against nuclear weapons. It wants Britain to destroy all nuclear devices.

"It's a very sensible tactic against dogs," Cadogan continued. "Aniseed is a love potion. The use of it saves trouble to the dogs and the demonstrators."

Police said the demonstrators used buns soaked in aniseed during a demonstration over the weekend near the RAF's V-bomber station in County Norfolk.

In a clash with the police and dogs, 80 demonstrators were arrested—but no one reported being bitten by a dog. "We had 30 to 35 dogs on duty," said the police spokesman.

Police and RAF security officers also clashed with a crowd of "ban-the-bombers" Saturday who tried to claim an air base at Harham after buying it lock, stock and missiles at a mock auction.

Before the demonstrators gave up and went to a local tavern, about a dozen were arrested.

The clash came after the group led by the Committee of 100 held their auction in the nearby quiet market town of Swaffham.

The RAF bomber base was sold piece by piece—with planes worth hundreds of thousands of pounds going for £1 ($3) each. Buyers were given bills of sale to stick on their purchases at the base to claim them "for peaceful purposes."

The demonstrators then went to the base where entry is rigidly restricted under Britain's Official Secrets Act and were greeted by lines of police.

The demonstrators came in waves, trying to break the cordons. At one point they threw one of their number over the base fence. He was thrown back. For a while he was passed back and forth like a tennis ball.

In court, the ban-the-bombers booted throughout the hearing at which four persons were released on bail and seven others remanded.

Meanwhile, the Manchester Guardian says fanatical nuclear disarmers are harassing the British secret service by jamming its telephones, entering its offices and photographing its staff.

'Hallucinations'
Replies NDP Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, said today Real Caouette "is suffering from hallucinations" when he says that the NDP and the Social Credit party were considering an alliance.

"Mr. Caouette's statement that I or anyone on my behalf had any discussions with the Social Credit party or any other political party either before, during or after the election is completely untrue and without any foundation in fact," said Mr. Douglas in a prepared statement.

Said Mr. Douglas: "It is apparent that Mr. Caouette finds himself in some difficulty over the haywire negotiations that were conducted by some of the Social Credit members with respect to supporting a Liberal government. Consequently, he now is seeking to find a scapegoat."

"I can only conclude that Mr. Caouette is suffering from hallucinations and I suggest that he come up with some more plausible explanation—preferably the truth."

Prime Minister Pearson told reporters prior to a cabinet meeting that he had "no comment whatever" on the matter. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's office also had a terse "no comment" when asked about the alleged alliance.

$138,892 Claim
Filed in Montana

(Social to The Times)

HELENA, Mont.—Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi is one of five defendants named in a $138,892 suit launched today in Helena, Mont.

A complaint filed in the district court at Helena asks for the awarding of $100,000 exemplary and punitive damages and a judgment for $38,892. Named with Gagliardi are Clyde W. Thornton of Montana, Fred Bell, Bonanza Construction Ltd. of B.C., and Mannix Co. of Alberta.

The complainant alleges they wrongfully withheld a $38,892 security deposit paid to the B.C. government by Montana contractor Dick Holzworth in 1959 against the awarding of the contract for highways project 1023 to Bonanza Construction.

It says it was agreed between Holzworth, Thornton, Bell and Gagliardi that Holzworth would be repaid when a performance bond was obtained for the contract.

The complaint alleges the deposit security was later assigned without Holzworth's knowledge and was wrongfully paid to the Mannix Co. (Project 1023 recently came under the scrutiny of a B.C. government legislative committee).

At Vancouver today Gagliardi said "I don't know anything about it."

JFK PLANS VISIT

Troops Stand By
In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP)—Advance contingent of army riot control troops began arriving today in this racially-troubled city as President Kennedy went ahead with plans to visit Alabama this weekend.

The racial situation here, in the words of Attorney-General Robert Kennedy, was "extremely sensitive and tense," but he said he expects the agreement reached last week between white and Negro leaders to endure.

He said that despite the weekend of bombings and rioting, the truce would not be broken and the racial troubles in this deep south city would be settled.

A top army staff officer, Maj.-Gen. Cleighton Abrams, was here to direct the military preparations necessary to throw federal troops into action if needed.

Bombings and rioting resulted in injuries to about 50 persons Saturday night and during the pre-dawn hours of Sunday. Trouble-shooters from the department of justice, meanwhile, set up headquarters in the downtown federal building, only a few blocks from the scene of the weekend disorders.

The White House announced during the day that President Kennedy will go through with long-held plans to visit Alabama this Saturday to attend ceremonies honoring the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Life in Birmingham, however, had returned to near normal by mid-morning.

A 28-block area, sealed off after Negroes rioted Saturday night, was reopened this morning and traffic was functioning at its normal pace.

The Southern Christian Leadership Council said Jackie Robinson, first Negro to compete in major league baseball, and former heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson will fly here tonight.

The Birmingham police department said everything was quiet in the steel city this morning. No untoward incidents were reported overnight although more than a thousand city and special police officers held part of the city under virtual martial law.

President Kennedy sent army troops to two Alabama bases with a grim warning that they would move into Birmingham if new violence erupted. Thousands of Negroes rioted early Sunday after bombs blasted a Negro minister's home and a motel.

Head of the desegregation drive, urged discipline, restraint and non-violence of Birmingham Negroes and insisted a shaky biracial agreement to settle the segregation dispute remained in effect.

Mayor Albert Boutwell took a look at the damage and pledged, "retribution there will be—swift, stern and in full measure." Every resource, he said, was bent to apprehend those who planted the bombs.

At a mass church meeting of about 2,000 Negroes, Dr. King said: "I have faith in the persons who did the negotiating. I believe these agreements will be carried out."
